Korean Slayings Censured

By JOHN RODERICK

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — The United Nations Command, angrily protesting the slaying of six Americans and a South Korean south of the armistice line this week, warned the North Korean Communists they are "travelling a collision course."

U.S. Maj. Gen. Richard Ciccolella gave the warning near the close of a long and bitter meeting of the Military Armistice Commission called into an emergency session to discuss the attack Wednesday, one of two south of the demilitarized zone on the last day of President Johnson's visit to South Korea.

Ciccolella, after describing at length and with passion the North Korean ambush of the American patrol, handed the Communists a letter from the U.N. commander in Korea, U.S. Gen. Charles Bonesteel III, protesting 12 "violent unprovoked North Korean attacks since Oct. 15.

"Unless you have elected to aggravate the Korean military armistice Bonesteel wrote "you will take appropriate action to cease these wanton acts of kidnaping, murder and atrocity. You are hereby put on notice that the United Nations Command views these violaas grave provocations."

Cicolella said the letter carries the assurance that the United Nations Command will not shirk its duties and responsibilities whatever conditions exist. The responsibility for whatever consequences may develop from continued acts of hostility will rest clearly on you side

The North Korean representative, Maj. Gen. Park Chungkook, refused to transmit Bonesteel's letter to Pyongyang, the North Korean capital. Ciccolella returned it to him, insisting that it be handed to North Korean Premier Kim Il-sung, but the letter finally came to rest on the U. N. side of the long, green table in the truce hut.

Ciccolella produced a bloody glove and blood-soaked bandages to back up the U.N. command's charge that North Korean Communists brutally killed the six Americans and the South Korean in the ambush Wednesday.

The general said the glove came from a North Korean soldier and the bandages bore markings showing they were made by the Pyongyang Medicine Manufacturing Co.

"Not satisfied with the murder of our troop," he told North Korean Maj. Gen. Park Chungkook, "your victious bandits then mutilated their heads with rifle butts, thus turning a vicious crime into an act of savage atrocity."

He said the heads of some of the dead men were smashed "in such savage brutality as to render all recognition impossible."

The North Korean said if the U.N. Command continues to violate the demolitarized zone, "resumption of bloody conflict" would result.

North Korean reporters at the meeting said their newspapers had given much prominence to charges that the United States is making attacks along the armistice line as a preliminary to reopening the Korean War.

U. S. and South Korean officials, on the other hand, have accused the North Koreans of a series of border attacks since Oct. 15 in which 25 South Koreans and six Americans were killed. But they say they do not believe the Communists are preparing to resume the war.

Shoe Employes Return to Work

Members of local 123A of the United Shoe Workers of America, AFL-CIO, returned to work this morning after a walk out Thursday morning at the International Shoe Company plant. Henry Bartholomew, union president, said that the work stoppage, affecting 450 shoe workers, was over a seniority clause added to a new contract that has not been signed by company and union officials.

Pay provisions of the contract were approved by union members Oct. 1, Bartholomew said. The seniority clause was drafted after these provisions were approved, he explained.

The monetary provisions, in the new two-year contract, call for a 24 cents per hour wage increase. Fringe benefits as well as general pay increases were computed in arriving at the package increase figure.

Tuesday union members voted to reject the seniority clause and abide by one in the old contract. The Sikeston union members were the first of 27 International Shoe Company locals to vote on the seniority clause.

Bartholomew said he recommended during a meeting at union headquarters Thursday afternoon that local members return to work today and abide by the vote of the majority of the 27 locals in Missouri, Illinois and Arkansas. Members agreed, he said.

Other locals are expected to vote on the provision in two to three weeks.

It will probably be Dec. 1, before the vote of the majority of locals is known, Bartholomew said.

The union and company have an interim contract in effect now. The old contract expired Sept. 30. The new contract is expected to become effective Jan. 1, 1967.

To become effective the new contract has to be ratified by the locals and signed by the local president and company officials.

Special Issues May Attract More Voters

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

For some Missouri voters next Tuesday's balloting will be more than the selection of individuals for public office.

In some areas they will pass on multi-million dollar bond issues, government reforms and annexations.

The great variety of issues before the voters in St. Louis and St. Louis County is expected to influence the turnout, usually light in off-year elections. The same is true in Kansas City and Jackson County.

All residents of the state may vote on Constitutional Amendment No. 1, but if approved, it will affect only the residents of St. Louis-both city and county. It is a "home rule" proposal under which the city and county would have the authority to adopt any plans they want for solution of common problems.

The St. Louis city voters will face a ballot of 18 bond proposals, totaling $107.3 million. Of that amount $79,300,000 is for improving, modernizing and rehabilitating city facilities including, hospitals, streets, lighting, public buildings, park, library, art muesum and the zoo.

Two other proposals call for issuance of $20 million in revenue bonds for improvements at the airport and the city's water works.

St. Louis County voters will pass on a $25 million bond issue for parks and on four proposals concerned with changes in the county government. One is a merit system for county employes.

Kansas City voters have before them a proposal to hike salaries of city councilmen from $4,800 to $7,200 a year and to place the Municipal Court under a non-partisan system similar to Missouri circuit judges.

Before the voters of Jackson County is a proposal for a general reassessment of real estate. The voters will pass on a one-year tax levy not to exceed 20 cents on the $100 valuation. It has been 24 years since the county had a complete reassessment.

Voters in the Kansas City School District will decide on a levy. It would raise the total school and library operating levy to $3.25 on each $100 valuation.

Five bond issues, totaling $2.5 million will be before Springfield voters. The largest ones are $1,055,000 for a police headquarters and $795,000 for airport improvements.

Residents of Macon County will be voting on a $450,000 bond issue for a county nursing home. The State Division of Health has informed the county that the present license for the Lakeview nursing Home will not be renewed unless major improvements are made.

Joplin will vote on a $120,000 bond issue for a new city health department building while Cassville will vote on a $120,000 bond issue for schools.

Jasper County will decide whether it wants county wide voter registration.

Annexations will be under consideration in some cities. Springfield would add 5.4 square miles to the northeast, with a population of 4,800 residents. Hazelwood, in St. Louis County, would add 2,300 acres with 2,000 residents and Pacific would annex 300 acres west of the city.

Residents of Webster Groves will decide on the housing of five horses. They will pass on repeal of an ordinance prohibiting the stabling of horses in the city. The owners of five horses got a petition of 7,000 signatures to get the question to a vote.

Streets Spelled Wrong

The correct spelling of two city streets in Sikeston are often confused. The streets in question are recorded on plat copies in the city clerk's office as "Edmondson" and "Marion" streets.

These spellings according to records are official and correct.

Confusion in finding the correct spelling of Edmondson street beset the newsroom of the Daily Standard just before deadline time Thursday. Three references were checked; each carried a different spelling for the same street.

When a reporter checked with the city clerk's office today for the correct spelling, he learned from city officials that Marian street, too, is often misspelled.

Edmondson street is spelled "Edmundson" on the 1966 revised city map. It is also spelled "Edmonson" in the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. directory. The City Directory carries the correct spelling of Edmondson. The street was named Dec. 17, 1910 after Arabella and James Edmondson.

Marian street is spelled correctly on the 1966, city map. It is spelled both correctly and incorrectly in the phone book. The common misspelling is "Marion."

The City Directory also carries the correct spelling of Marian. The street is in the Jones subdivision and was recorded in 1947.

U.S. Forces Repel Two Attacks

SAIGON (AP) — Reinforced U.S. infantrymen repelled two strong Viet Cong attacks today and inflicted heavy losses on the Communists in hard fighting in jungle and rice paddie terrain near the Cambodian border, an American military spokesman said.

The fighting continued into the night as the American troops sought to flush the Communists from a chain of heavily fortified bunkers 65 miles northwest of Saigon.

Additional American troops were lifted in by helicopter to reinforce elements of the 196th Light Infantry Brigade, which arrived in Viet Nam last Aug. 14 Other reinforcements moved into the area by foot.

The spokesman said the Viet Cong massed an estimated 100 troops twice during the afternoon and assaulted the Americans.

There was no immediate word on the American casualties.

When the fighting intensified, nearby units of the 25th Infantry Division moved in on the ground to link with the 196th units and choppers hauled in more troops from the 25th division. Men of the 25th and the 196th linked up in the area where the infantrymen discovered 35 Communist bunkers. Air strikes and artillery pounded the fortified positions to soften them up for the ground troops. This apparently forced some of the Viet Cong from their holes.

The battleground is about 12 miles northeast of Tay Ninh City. Allied troops have been meeting heavy Communist resistance for two days in the area. Tay Ninh Province long has been a Communist stronghold.

Earlier, not far from the American fighting, South Vietnamese militiamen, outnumbered almost 9 to 1, repelled an estimated 700 Viet Cong with support from U.S. Armed helicopters and fighter-bombers in five hours of hard fighting, Vietnamese military spokesmen said.

The air war went on at a quickened pace. U.S. pilots reported sighting four MIG jets northwest of Hanoi and trading fire with two of them, but neither side reported damage.

The South Vietnamese said 52 Communists were killed and five captured in their predawn battle near Tay Nih, about 60 miles northwest of Saigon. Government losses were described as moderate, indicating a considerable number of killed or wounded.

Planes and helicopters struck repeatedly at the Communist attackers and dropped flares to illuminate the Viet Cong attacks.

A search of the battlefield after dawn turned up a variety of weapons, a spokesman said, including two Chinese Communist flame throwers, 75mm recoilless rifles, antitank weapons and a number of machineguns.

The American infantrymen who fought nearby were engaged in Operation Attleboro, which had killed 10 Viet Cong and captured five others by Thursday afternoon.

Reports of the action today were incomplete, the American spokesman said.

For the third day in a row, skies were relatively clear over North Viet Nam Thursday after almost a week of bad weather. American pilots flew 155 missions in the Hanoi, Haiphong and southern panhandle areas.

Pilots reported destruction of 8 bridges, 14 cargo barges, 25 buildings, 43 trucks, 3 cargo jungs, 2 antiaircraft sitss, and 2 pontoon bridge segments, as well as damage to other targets, including two railroad yards.

The number of American planes lost over the Communist North climbed to 415 with the belated report of an F105 Thunderchief downed Wednesday. The pilot is missing.

U.S. pilots reported exchanging fire with two MIG21 jets Thursday about 120 miles northwest of Hanoi, but said there was no damage to either side.

The MIGs fired missiles, a U.S. spokesman said, but in a change of policy he refused to say what firing the American planes did.

In the South, B52 bombers from Guam blasted suspected troop concentrations in two raids in Bin Dinh and Kontum Provinces some 250 miles north of Saigon, shortly before noon today.

Air Agreement Linking New York and Moscow

WASHINGTON AP - The United States and the Soviet Union signed today an agreement for direct air service between New York and Moscow.

The pact was signed in a State Department ceremony by Ambassador-at-large Llewellyn E. Thompson and Yevteniy F. Loginov, minister of civil aviation of the Soviet Union.

The signing, Thompson told Loginov, is a "welcome occasion" for the United States. He said he is confident the technical arrangements can be made enabling Pan American Airways and Aeroflot, the Soviet state airline, to open service "when the next tourist season begins."

The Soviet minister, replying to Thompson, said the agreement "will be of great value, bringing our countries closer together, promoting mutual understanding and strengthening the bonds between us."

The pact was agreed on five years ago but formal acceptance had been held up by cold war pressures.

The agreement was envisaged in a 1958 cultural agreement and was worked out in the summer of 1961 in Washington. But on Aug. 21, 1961, shortly after the Berlin wall went up, the State Department said it was "not an appropriate time" to sign a formal agreement.

Since then the subject has been somewhat of a barometer of the international situation. Interest in it was revived several months ago when President Johnson proposed a series of small steps to improve East-West relations, including the air agreement, increased trade and a treaty to preserve outer space for peaceful use.

Negotiations on the air service resumed last month after New York meetings between Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

Although the agreement clears the way for the first direct air service between the United States and the Soviet capital, Air Canada and Aeroflot inaugurated first regular nonstop commercial service between North America and the Soviet Union today when they began once-a-week schedules between Moscow and Montreal.

The estimated 20,000 U.S. and Canadian tourists flying to the Soviet Union each year have been making the trip via foreign airlines which make intermediate stops in Western Europe.

Simpson Park to City of Charleston

CHARLESTON -- A. D. Simpson Park of 5.47 acres on South Main Street, owned by the Charleston R-1 board of education, has been deeded to the city in exchange for running water and sewer lines to the high school.

The city received the plot in exchange for sewer and water lines built to the new school on the eastern city limits. The services were valued at $5,000.

The city in turn, according to Acting City Manager Dick Carr has asked the Missouri Inter-Agency Council for outdoor recreation to approve a $2,500 grant for the project.

The state grant was approved Tuesday and the proposal now is in the hands of the federal agency where an additional $2,500 grant is sought. When federal approval is given the improvement will begin.

If approval is granted, the city plans to add comfort stations, enlarge and improve the ball park, and add swings for children.

Later the council will purchase an additional two or three acres to add to the park, at a cost of $3,000 for added improvements.

The Inter-Agency Council also approved Tuesday a $30,000 project for creation of Beckworth Fort State Park in Mississippi County, 63 acres.

THE CHARLESTON CITY COUNCIL has acquired the 5.47-acre A.D. Simpson park from the R-1 reorganized school district and awaits approval of $2,500 federal grant for improvements to the park at the southern city limits.

Storm Numbs South

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Record cold numbed at least seven states of the Southland today as the season's first major snowstorm, a killer and a traffic crippler, swung back northward into Canada.

The storm left in its swooping wake freezing temperatures all the way to the Gulf of Mexico, falls of snow as far south as Birmingham, Ala., and a white blanket that measured 15 inches on the level in parts of Kentucky and drifts as deep as four feet in Michigan.

The storm's toll of lives totaled at least 32 in six states, including five in a heavy rainstorm in New England.

Snow squalls continued across the Great Lakes and northern Appalachia - the region where the storm hit hardest.

Michigan householders and highway crews were digging out of drifts that paralyzed the lower half of the state. The storm's toll in Michigan was four lives. Its Upper Peninsula was still snow-choked.

The storm snarled traffic, marooned scores of trucks and cars, downed power lines, disrupted air traffic, trapped hunters and forced schools to close. The unscheduled vacation for thousands of schoolchildren continued today.

Ski enthusiasts were about the only ones in Michigan to draw any pleasure from the sporadically continuing fall of snow that measures 10 inches at Alpena, in the northeast along Lake Huron, and averaged 7 to 8 inches.

Scores of sports events were canceled or postponed. Students were recruited to clear stadiums at East Lansing and Ann Arbor for university football games scheduled Saturday.

The record cold in Dixie, either for the date or for so early in the season, included 22 at Nashville, Tenn., and Charlotte, N.C.; 23 at Meridian, Miss.; 24 at Atlanta, Ga.; 25 at Birmingham, Ala.; 27 at Charleston, S.C.; 31 at Jacksonville, Fla., and 40 at Miami, Fla.

The nation's coldest official temperatures of the morning, although not records, were 11 at Lone Rock, Wis., and 15 at Park Falls, Wis., and International Falls, Minn.

An unofficial 8 above zero was recorded at Woodbury, Tenn.

Clearing skies behind the departing storm will not bring an immediate general warmup, the Weather Bureau said. New surges of cold polar air are on the way, it explained.

In the eastern Great Lakes region, as much as 8 inches of snow fell around Niagara Falls. The storm, accompanied by lightning and thunder, disrupted electric service to more than 15,00 persons. More locally heavy snow squalls struck this morning south of Buffalo, N.Y.

At Fremont, Ind., two busloads of passengers spent a second night stranded. They were sheltered in the high school gymnasium. Principal James McKibben said the passengers told him they had been

Safeguard Leads to Operation

Johnson has an "incisional hernia" — a form of rupture — that has occurred in the region of his year-old gall bladder operation scar.

The precaution —insertion of rubber drainage tubes in the incision made for removal of the diseased gall bladder — might well have saved the President's life or spared him possibly dangerous sickness if certain complications had arisen after surgery. Now, ironically, the President faces surgery as a legacy of the safeguard.

He's to have the problem repaired in about two weeks. At the same time he'll have a tiny polyp growth removed from one of his vocal cords. The polyp is an occupational hazard of public speakers like Johnson.

In a gall bladder operation like Johnson had, one or more tubes are routinely inserted close to one end of the incision, and left there temporarily after the incision itself is sewed up.

Six to eight inches long, the tubes extend to the area of the removed gall bladder. Their function is to drain off any dangerous pus if infection should occur at the site — or drain off any equally dangerous seepage of bile into the abdominal cavity.

Such tubes — though serving a potentially life-saving purpose -- an sometimes cause late

Driver Faces Three Charges Filed by Police

A man driving a pickup truck struck a parked car Thursday and was charged with three offenses when stopped by police on West Malone, police reported.

Douglas W. Sanders, Leora, the truck driver, struck the front end of a parked car owned by Marie Watkins, 102 Jaycee, while it was parked in front of her residence. He was charged with leaving the scene of an accident, driving while intoxicated and driving without an operator's license.

Five other persons were arrested by police.

Robert J. Welker, Cape Girardeau, was arrested today on Felker street and charged with public intoxication. He received a $12 fine and 30 days in jail.

Robert Joles, Clay City, Ill., was arrested Thursday and charged with drunkeness.

William H. Asa, 1608 East Kathleen, was arrested today and charged with running a stop sign on East Malone.

Norman E. Bock, 927 Perry, was arrested today on South Handy and charged with driving without an operator's license.

Daniel Jones, 1703 Kentucky, was charged by police Thursday with shooting a BB gun in the city limits.

Coat of Paint Covers Shocking Pink Lady

MALIBU, Calif. (AP) — The winsome Malibu maiden has disappeared, her shocking pink, nude voluptuousness blanketed by 14 gallons of drab, unfemale earth-colored paint.

And the woman who says she created the frolicking 40-foot-high running lady is disgusted.

Lynne Seemayer, 31, an attractive legal secretary, says she prepared six months for last Friday night's venture when, beneath a bright moon and above the headlight glare from passing cars, she painted the maiden.

The 105-pound brunette dropped by rope over the sheer cliff above a highway tunnel, cans of paint strapped to her waist. She says she spent 11½ hours painting and finished about dawn.

"I did it because the cliff was there," she said.

But the county road commissioner said the maiden was a hazard to drivers.

Mrs. Seemayer arrived at the tunnel Thursday as county workers splashed drab brown paint on the maiden's navel. The painting had withstood assaults with paint remover and fire hoses. After sandblasting proved unfeasible, the paint was applied.

Johnson Reviews Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson appraised his Asia, Pacific trip today as highly successful and said the nations at the Manila conference are united in a determination "to walk the last mile" in the search for peace.

The President made the assessment at a news conference a day after announcing that he faces surgery in about a fortnight on his throat and abdomen.

He dismissed that prospect today as not "something to make a show over."

Answering questions Johnson said that at no time had his doctors advised him not to make his 31,500-mile trip overseas, or to ease up during the journey.

The best indication of his physical condition, Johnson said, is that notwithstanding his throat polyp and repair work on the abdomen, he did make the trip, he didn't get weary, and he got plenty of rest throughout.

Johnson also told reporters assembled in the White House East Room for a televised news session that he sees no reason why the Tuesday election should greatly affect any decision the North Vietnamese might make on continuing the war.

While he was at it, he said there could be a change of 40 or 50 seats in the House without drastically affecting the government's program.

Johnson walked into the Esst Room this morning with a smile on his face and a nod for newsmen he recognized. Mrs. Johnson was with him.

His voice was strong and he showed no signs of unusual weariness of illness.

Johnson said he is not a good judge of what the Communist reaction to the result of the coming congressional election will be. He had been asked whether he thinks the outcome will have any effect on Communist intentions to continue the Viet Nam war. There have been suggestions that an administration setback could encourage the Communists.

"The President is not a candidate in this election," Johnson remarked, saying he does not see how the election could change the government's policies. He also said he hopes the Communists do not make any miscalculations.

Asked what he knows about the views of the Soviet leaders on Viet Nam, Johnson said, "I have every reason to believe they would like to see the fighting stop."

"Until we can reason this out we must maintain the strength to defend our men," he said.

Johnson added that Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the commander in Viet Nam, made it clear that additional manpower will be needed in Viet Nam, and that the U. S. allies heard his presentation.

"If more troops are needed they will be sent," he said.

He said it would be bad to speculate in terms of how many hundreds of thousands will be needed "when Gen. Westmoreland himself does not know."

He continued by saying there is much strength now and it may be augmented from time to time, always with the hope that the other side will agree to negotiate.

"We would go more than half way if we knew which way to go," Johnson said of the status of communications with the adversaries in Viet Nam.

He was asked next about reports that the Pope will propose another Christmas truce, with a cessation of bombing.

"Whatever proposal he would make would be very seriously considered and evaluated," Johnson said, but he said he could not conceive of a proposal that one side should stop bombing and the other continue it.

He noted that bombs have been thrown at the U.S. Embassy in Saigon and at a National Day celebration.

"If they want us to stop bombing, we would like to see what they would stop," he said, adding he would consider any

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — The United Nations Command, angrily protesting the slaying of six Americans and a South Korean south of the armistice line this week, warned the North Korean Communists they are "travelling a collision course."

U.S. Maj. Gen. Richard Ciccolella gave the warning near the close of a long and bitter meeting of the Military Armistice Commission called into an emergency session to discuss the attack Wednesday, one of two south of the demilitarized zone on the last day of President Johnson's visit to South Korea.

Ciccolella, after describing at length and with passion the North Korean ambush of the American patrol, handed the Communists a letter from the U.N. commander in Korea, U.S. Gen. Charles Bonesteel III, protesting 12 "violent unprovoked North Korean attacks since Oct. 15.

"Unless you have elected to aggravate the Korean military armistice Bonesteel wrote "you will take appropriate action to cease these wanton acts of kidnaping, murder and atrocity. You are hereby put on notice that the United Nations Command views these violas as grave provocations."

Cicolella said the letter carries the assurance that the United Nations Command will not shirk its duties and responsibilities whatever conditions exist. The responsibility for whatever consequences may develop from continued acts of hostility will rest clearly on you side

The North Korean representative, Maj. Gen. Park Chungkook, refused to transmit Bonesteel's letter to Pyongyang, the North Korean capital. Ciccolella returned it to him, insisting that it be handed to North Korean Premier Kim Il-sung, but the letter finally came to rest on the U. N. side of the long, green table in the truce hut.

Ciccolella produced a bloody glove and blood-soaked bandages to back up the U.N. command's charge that North Korean Communists brutally killed the six Americans and the South Korean in the ambush Wednesday.

The general said the glove came from a North Korean soldier and the bandages bore markings showing they were made by the Pyongyang Medicine Manufacturing Co.

"Not satisfied with the murder of our troop," he told North Korean Maj. Gen. Park Chungkook, "your victious bandits then mutilated their heads with rifle butts, thus turning a vicious crime into an act of savage atrocity."

He said the heads of some of the dead men were smashed "in such savage brutality as to render all recognition impossible."

The North Korean said if the U. N. Command continues to violate the demolitarized zone, "resumption of bloody conflict" would result.

North Korean reporters at the meeting said their newspapers had given much prominence to charges that the United States is making attacks along the armistice line as a preliminary to reopening the Korean War.

U. S. and South Korean officials, on the other hand, have accused the North Koreans of a series of border attacks since Oct. 15 in which 25 South Koreans and six Americans were killed. But they say they do not believe the Communists are preparing to resume the war.

Shoe Employes Return to Work

Members of local 123A of the United Shoe Workers of America, AFL-CIO, returned to work this morning after a walk out Thursday morning at the International Shoe Company plant. Henry Bartholomew, union president, said that the work stoppage, affecting 450 shoe workers, was over a seniority clause added to a new contract that has not been signed by company and union officials.

Pay provisions of the contract were approved by union members Oct. 1, Bartholomew said. The seniority clause was drafted after these provisions were approved, he explained.

The monetary provisions, in the new two-year contract, call for a 24 cents per hour wage increase. Fringe benefits as well as general pay increases were computed in arriving at the package increase figure.

Tuesday union members voted to reject the seniority clause and abide by one in the old contract. The Sikeston union members were the first of 27 International Shoe Company locals to vote on the seniority clause.

Bartholomew said he recommended during a meeting at union headquarters Thursday afternoon that local members return to work today and abide by the vote of the majority of the 27 locals in Missouri, Illinois and Arkansas. Members agreed, he said.

Other locals are expected to vote on the provision in two to three weeks.

It will probably be Dec. 1, before the vote of the majority of locals is known, Bartholomew said.

The union and company have an interim contract in effect now. The old contract expired Sept. 30. The new contract is expected to become effective Jan. 1, 1967.

To become effective the new contract has to be ratified by the locals and signed by the local president and company officials.

Special Issues May Attract More Voters

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

For some Missouri voters next Tuesday's balloting will be more than the selection of individuals for public office.

In some areas they will pass on multi-million dollar bond issues, government reforms and annexations.

The great variety of issues before the voters in St. Louis and St. Louis County is expected to influence the turnout, usually light in off-year elections. The same is true in Kansas City and Jackson County.

All residents of the state may vote on Constitutional Amendment No. 1, but if approved, it will affect only the residents of St. Louis-both city and county. It is a "home rule" proposal under which the city and county would have the authority to adopt any plans they want for solution of common problems.

The St. Louis city voters will face a ballot of 18 bond proposals, totaling $107.3 million. Of that amount $79,300,000 is for improving, modernizing and rehabilitating city facilities including, hospitals, streets, lighting, public buildings, park, library, art muesum and the zoo.

Two other proposals call for issuance of $20 million in revenue bonds for improvements at the airport and the city's water works.

St. Louis County voters will pass on a $25 million bond issue for parks and on four proposals concerned with changes in the county government. One is a merit system for county employes.

Kansas City voters have before them a proposal to hike salaries of city councilmen from $4,800 to $7,200 a year and to place the Municipal Court under a non-partisan system similar to Missouri circuit judges.

Before the voters of Jackson County is a proposal for a general reassessment of real estate. The voters will pass on a one-year tax levy not to exceed 20 cents on the $100 valuation. It has been 24 years since the county had a complete reassessment.

Voters in the Kansas City School District will decide on a levy. It would raise the total school and library operating levy to $3.25 on each $100 valuation.

Five bond issues, totaling $2.5 million will be before Springfield voters. The largest ones are $1,055,000 for a police headquarters and $795,000 for airport improvements.

Residents of Macon County will be voting on a $450,000 bond issue for a county nursing home. The State Division of Health has informed the county that the present license for the Lakeview nursing Home will not be renewed unless major improvements are made.

Joplin will vote on a $120,000 bond issue for a new city health department building while Cassville will vote on a $120,000 bond issue for schools.

Jasper County will decide whether it wants county wide voter registration.

Annexations will be under consideration in some cities. Springfield would add 5.4 square miles to the northeast, with a population of 4,800 residents. Hazelwood, in St. Louis County, would add 2,300 acres with 2,000 residents and Pacific would annex 300 acres west of the city.

Residents of Webster Groves will decide on the housing of five horses. They will pass on repeal of an ordinance prohibiting the stabling of horses in the city. The owners of five horses got a petition of 7,000 signatures to get the question to a vote.

Streets Spelled Wrong

The correct spelling of two city streets in Sikeston are often confused. The streets in question are recorded on plat copies in the city clerk's office as "Edmondson" and "Marion" streets.

These spellings according to records are official and correct.

Confusion in finding the correct spelling of Edmondson street beset the newsroom of the Daily Standard just before deadline time Thursday. Three references were checked; each carried a different spelling for the same street.

When a reporter checked with the city clerk's office today for the correct spelling, he learned from city officials that Marian street, too, is often misspelled.

Edmondson street is spelled "Edmundson" on the 1966 revised city map. It is also spelled "Edmonson" in the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. directory. The City Directory carries the correct spelling of Edmondson. The street was named Dec. 17, 1910 after Arabella and James Edmondson.

Marian street is spelled correctly on the 1966, city map. It is spelled both correctly and incorrectly in the phone book. The common misspelling is "Marion."

The City Directory also carries the correct spelling of Marian. The street is in the Jones subdivision and was recorded in 1947.

U.S. Forces Repel Two Attacks

SAIGON (AP) — Reinforced U.S. infantrymen repelled two strong Viet Cong attacks today and inflicted heavy losses on the Communists in hard fighting in jungle and rice paddie terrain near the Cambodian border, an American military spokesman said.

The fighting continued into the night as the American troops sought to flush the Communists from a chain of heavily fortified bunkers 65 miles northwest of Saigon.

Additional American troops were lifted in by helicopter to reinforce elements of the 196th Light Infantry Brigade, which arrived in Viet Nam last Aug. 14 Other reinforcements moved into the area by foot.

The spokesman said the Viet Cong massed an estimated 100 troops twice during the afternoon and assaulted the Americans.

There was no immediate word on the American casualties.

When the fighting intensified, nearby units of the 25th Infantry Division moved in on the ground to link with the 196th units and choppers hauled in more troops from the 25th division. Men of the 25th and the 196th linked up in the area where the infantrymen discovered 35 Communist bunkers. Air strikes and artillery pounded the fortified positions to soften them up for the ground troops. This apparently forced some of the Viet Cong from their holes.

The battleground is about 12 miles northeast of Tay Ninh City. Allied troops have been meeting heavy Communist resistance for two days in the area. Tay Ninh Province long has been a Communist stronghold.

Earlier, not far from the American fighting, South Vietnamese militiamen, outnumbered almost 9 to 1, repelled an estimated 700 Viet Cong with support from U.S. Armed helicopters and fighter-bombers in five hours of hard fighting, Vietnamese military spokesmen said.

The air war went on at a quickened pace. U.S. pilots reported sighting four MIG jets northwest of Hanoi and trading fire with two of them, but neither side reported damage.

The South Vietnamese said 52 Communists were killed and five captured in their predawn battle near Tay Nih, about 60 miles northwest of Saigon. Government losses were described as moderate, indicating a considerable number of killed or wounded.

Planes and helicopters struck repeatedly at the Communist attackers and dropped flares to illuminate the Viet Cong attacks.

A search of the battlefield after dawn turned up a variety of weapons, a spokesman said, including two Chinese Communist flame throwers, 75mm recoilless rifles, antitank weapons and a number of machineguns.

The American infantrymen who fought nearby were engaged in Operation Attleboro, which had killed 10 Viet Cong and captured five others by Thursday afternoon.

Reports of the action today were incomplete, the American spokesman said.

For the third day in a row, skies were relatively clear over North Viet Nam Thursday after almost a week of bad weather. American pilots flew 155 missions in the Hanoi, Haiphong and southern panhandle areas.

Pilots reported destruction of 8 bridges, 14 cargo barges, 25 buildings, 43 trucks, 3 cargo jungs, 2 antiaircraft sitss, and 2 pontoon bridge segments, as well as damage to other targets, including two railroad yards.

The number of American planes lost over the Communist North climbed to 415 with the belated report of an F105 Thunderchief downed Wednesday. The pilot is missing.

U.S. pilots reported exchanging fire with two MIG21 jets Thursday about 120 miles northwest of Hanoi, but said there was no damage to either side.

The MIGs fired missiles, a U.S. spokesman said, but in a change of policy he refused to say what firing the American planes did.

In the South, B52 bombers from Guam blasted suspected troop concentrations in two raids in Bin Dinh and Kontum Provinces some 250 miles north of Saigon, shortly before noon today.

Air Agreement Linking New York and Moscow

WASHINGTON AP - The United States and the Soviet Union signed today an agreement for direct air service between New York and Moscow.

The pact was signed in a State Department ceremony by Ambassador-at-large Llewellyn E. Thompson and Yevteniy F. Loginov, minister of civil aviation of the Soviet Union.

The signing, Thompson told Loginov, is a "welcome occasion" for the United States. He said he is confident the technical arrangements can be made enabling Pan American Airways and Aeroflot, the Soviet state airline, to open service "when the next tourist season begins."

The Soviet minister, replying to Thompson, said the agreement "will be of great value, bringing our countries closer together, promoting mutual understanding and strengthening the bonds between us."

The pact was agreed on five years ago but formal acceptance had been held up by cold war pressures.

The agreement was envisaged in a 1958 cultural agreement and was worked out in the summer of 1961 in Washington. But on Aug. 21, 1961, shortly after the Berlin wall went up, the State Department said it was "not an appropriate time" to sign a formal agreement.

Since then the subject has been somewhat of a barometer of the international situation. Interest in it was revived several months ago when President Johnson proposed a series of small steps to improve East-West relations, including the air agreement, increased trade and a treaty to preserve outer space for peaceful use.

Negotiations on the air service resumed last month after New York meetings between Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

Although the agreement clears the way for the first direct air service between the United States and the Soviet capital, Air Canada and Aeroflot inaugurated first regular nonstop commercial service between North America and the Soviet Union today when they began once-a-week schedules between Moscow and Montreal.

The estimated 20,000 U.S. and Canadian tourists flying to the Soviet Union each year have been making the trip via foreign airlines which make intermediate stops in Western Europe.

Simpson Park to City of Charleston

CHARLESTON -- A. D. Simpson Park of 5.47 acres on South Main Street, owned by the Charleston R-1 board of education, has been deeded to the city in exchange for running water and sewer lines to the high school.

The city received the plot in exchange for sewer and water lines built to the new school on the eastern city limits. The services were valued at $5,000.

The city in turn, according to Acting City Manager Dick Carr has asked the Missouri Inter-Agency Council for outdoor recreation to approve a $2,500 grant for the project. The state grant was approved Tuesday and the proposal now is in the hands of the federal agency where an additional $2,500 grant is sought. When federal approval is given the improvement will begin.

If approval is granted, the city plans to add comfort stations, enlarge and improve the ball park, and add swings for children.

Later the council will purchase an additional two or three acres to add to the park, at a cost of $3,000 for added improvements.

The Inter-Agency Council also approved Tuesday a $30,000 project for creation of Beckworth Fort State Park in Mississippi County, 63 acres.

THE CHARLESTON CITY COUNCIL has acquired the 5.47-acre A.D. Simpson park from the R-1 reorganized school district and awaits approval of $2,500 federal grant for improvements to the park at the southern city limits.

Storm Numbs South

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Record cold numbed at least seven states of the Southland today as the season's first major snowstorm, a killer and a traffic crippler, swung back northward into Canada.

The storm left in its swooping wake freezing temperatures all the way to the Gulf of Mexico, falls of snow as far south as Birmingham, Ala., and a white blanket that measured 15 inches on the level in parts of Kentucky and drifts as deep as four feet in Michigan.

The storm's toll of lives totaled at least 32 in six states, including five in a heavy rainstorm in New England.

Snow squalls continued across the Great Lakes and northern Appalachia - the region where the storm hit hardest.

Michigan householders and highway crews were digging out of drifts that paralyzed the lower half of the state. The storm's toll in Michigan was four lives. Its Upper Peninsula was still snow-choked.

The storm snarled traffic, marooned scores of trucks and cars, downed power lines, disrupted air traffic, trapped hunters and forced schools to close. The unscheduled vacation for thousands of schoolchildren continued today.

Ski enthusiasts were about the only ones in Michigan to draw any pleasure from the sporadically continuing fall of snow that measures 10 inches at Alpena, in the northeast along Lake Huron, and averaged 7 to 8 inches.

Scores of sports events were canceled or postponed. Students were recruited to clear stadiums at East Lansing and Ann Arbor for university football games scheduled Saturday.

The record cold in Dixie, either for the date or for so early in the season, included 22 at Nashville, Tenn., and Charlotte, N.C.; 23 at Meridian, Miss.; 24 at Atlanta, Ga.; 25 at Birmingham, Ala.; 27 at Charleston, S.C.; 31 at Jacksonville, Fla., and 40 at Miami, Fla.

The nation's coldest official temperatures of the morning, although not records, were 11 at Lone Rock, Wis., and 15 at Park Falls, Wis., and International Falls, Minn.

An unofficial 8 above zero was recorded at Woodbury, Tenn.

Clearing skies behind the departing storm will not bring an immediate general warmup, the Weather Bureau said. New surges of cold polar air are on the way, it explained.

In the eastern Great Lakes region, as much as 8 inches of snow fell around Niagara Falls. The storm, accompanied by lightning and thunder, disrupted electric service to more than 15,00 persons. More locally heavy snow squalls struck this morning south of Buffalo, N.Y.

At Fremont, Ind., two busloads of passengers spent a second night stranded. They were sheltered in the high school gymnasium. Principal James McKibben said the passengers told him they had been

Safeguard Leads to Operation

Johnson has an "incisional hernia" — a form of rupture — that has occurred in the region of his year-old gall bladder operation scar.

The precaution — insertion of rubber drainage tubes in the incision made for removal of the diseased gall bladder — might well have saved the President's life or spared him possibly dangerous sickness if certain complications had arisen after surgery. Now, ironically, the President faces surgery as a legacy of the safeguard.

He's to have the problem repaired in about two weeks. At the same time he'll have a tiny polyp growth removed from one of his vocal cords. The polyp is an occupational hazard of public speakers like Johnson.

In a gall bladder operation like Johnson had, one or more tubes are routinely inserted close to one end of the incision, and left there temporarily after the incision itself is sewed up.

Six to eight inches long, the tubes extend to the area of the removed gall bladder. Their function is to drain off any dangerous pus if infection should occur at the site — or drain off any equally dangerous seepage of bile into the abdominal cavity.

Such tubes — though serving a potentially life-saving purpose -- an sometimes cause late

Driver Faces Three Charges Filed by Police

A man driving a pickup truck struck a parked car Thursday and was charged with three offenses when stopped by police on West Malone, police reported.

Douglas W. Sanders, Leora, the truck driver, struck the front end of a parked car owned by Marie Watkins, 102 Jaycee, while it was parked in front of her residence. He was charged with leaving the scene of an accident, driving while intoxicated and driving without an operator's license.

Five other persons were arrested by police.

Robert J. Welker, Cape Girardeau, was arrested today on Felker street and charged with public intoxication. He received a $12 fine and 30 days in jail.

Robert Joles, Clay City, Ill., was arrested Thursday and charged with drunkeness.

William H. Asa, 1608 East Kathleen, was arrested today and charged with running a stop sign on East Malone.

Norman E. Bock, 927 Perry, was arrested today on South Handy and charged with driving without an operator's license.

Daniel Jones, 1703 Kentucky, was charged by police Thursday with shooting a BB gun in the city limits.

Coat of Paint Covers Shocking Pink Lady

MALIBU, Calif. (AP) — The winsome Malibu maiden has disappeared, her shocking pink, nude voluptuousness blanketed by 14 gallons of drab, unfemale earth-colored paint.

And the woman who says she created the frolicking 40-foot-high running lady is disgusted.

Lynne Seemayer, 31, an attractive legal secretary, says she prepared six months for last Friday night's venture when, beneath a bright moon and above the headlight glare from passing cars, she painted the maiden.

The 105-pound brunette dropped by rope over the sheer cliff above a highway tunnel, cans of paint strapped to her waist. She says she spent 11½ hours painting and finished about dawn.

"I did it because the cliff was there," she said.

But the county road commissioner said the maiden was a hazard to drivers.

Mrs. Seemayer arrived at the tunnel Thursday as county workers splashed drab brown paint on the maiden's navel. The painting had withstood assaults with paint remover and fire hoses. After sandblasting proved unfeasible, the paint was applied.

Johnson Reviews Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson appraised his Asia, Pacific trip today as highly successful and said the nations at the Manila conference are united in a determination "to walk the last mile" in the search for peace.

The President made the assessment at a news conference a day after announcing that he faces surgery in about a fortnight on his throat and abdomen.

He dismissed that prospect today as not "something to make a show over."

Answering questions Johnson said that at no time had his doctors advised him not to make his 31,500-mile trip overseas, or to ease up during the journey.

The best indication of his physical condition, Johnson said, is that notwithstanding his throat polyp and repair work on the abdomen, he did make the trip, he didn't get weary, and he got plenty of rest throughout.

Johnson also told reporters assembled in the White House East Room for a televised news session that he sees no reason why the Tuesday election should greatly affect any decision the North Vietnamese might make on continuing the war.

While he was at it, he said there could be a change of 40 or 50 seats in the House without drastically affecting the government's program.

Johnson walked into the Esst Room this morning with a smile on his face and a nod for newsmen he recognized. Mrs. Johnson was with him.

His voice was strong and he showed no signs of unusual weariness of illness.

Johnson said he is not a good judge of what the Communist reaction to the result of the coming congressional election will be. He had been asked whether he thinks the outcome will have any effect on Communist intentions to continue the Viet Nam war. There have been suggestions that an administration setback could encourage the Communists.

"The President is not a candidate in this election," Johnson remarked, saying he does not see how the election could change the government's policies. He also said he hopes the Communists do not make any miscalculations.

Asked what he knows about the views of the Soviet leaders on Viet Nam, Johnson said, "I have every reason to believe they would like to see the fighting stop."

"Until we can reason this out we must maintain the strength to defend our men," he said.

Johnson added that Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the commander in Viet Nam, made it clear that additional manpower will be needed in Viet Nam, and that the U. S. allies heard his presentation.

"If more troops are needed they will be sent," he said.

He said it would be bad to speculate in terms of how many hundreds of thousands will be needed "when Gen. Westmoreland himself does not know."

He continued by saying there is much strength now and it may be augmented from time to time, always with the hope that the other side will agree to negotiate.

"We would go more than half way if we knew which way to go," Johnson said of the status of communications with the adversaries in Viet Nam.

He was asked next about reports that the Pope will propose another Christmas truce, with a cessation of bombing.

"Whatever proposal he would make would be very seriously considered and evaluated," Johnson said, but he said he could not conceive of a proposal that one side should stop bombing and the other continue it.

He noted that bombs have been thrown at the U.S. Embassy in Saigon and at a National Day celebration.

"If they want us to stop bombing, we would like to see what they would stop," he said, adding he would consider any

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

Missourians have a chance to endorse home rule in Tuesday's general election.

They should do it.

The emphasis on centralized power is too great. Local, self government shoud be encouraged. It will help restore needed balance.

The vote on the issue Tuesday applies to St. Louis and St. Louis county but the principle applies everywhere.

By strengthening self government in the city of St. Louis and St. Louis county it is bolstered everywhere.

There also is a selfish reason for a "yes" vote. If the state legislature is freed from the problem it can turn to issues, which are more important to residents living elsewhere in Missouri.

A "yes" vote will acknowledge that the problems of 1966 are unlike those in 1878 and give the St. Louis metropolitan area the flexibility it needs to solve its problems. The state's 1945 constitution is rigid and unrealistic.

The St. Louis area has never been able to take advantage of four ways authorized by the 1945 constitution to solve its problems. The problems have remained. There has been no solution.

Many governmental problems in St. Louis and St. Louis county overlap--traffic, law enforcement, fire protection, health and education among them.

Others conflict and confuse.

Taxation is a tangled briar patch.

The constitutional amendment on which Missourians vote Tuesday permits people in the St. Louis area to utilize any approach to a solution of common problems.

It will appear as a separate ballot as constitutional amendment No. 1 with this title:

"Authorize St. Louis County and St. Louis City to adopt a plan for partial or complete government of all or any part of the county and city and provide the method of selecting a board of freeholders."

Vote "yes", scratch no, and help make local government tick.

COLD MORNING MISERIES STOPPED BY EIGHT CHECKS

Cold Morning Miseries will be upon us before you can say Jack Frost. The best way to avoid non-start car troubles is to "Take the Bite Out of Winter" with a list of eight safety checks.

The list includes:

1. Brakes: Properly adjusted, linings not worn, and with correct fluid levels and clearances. Also have your shock absorbers checked.
2. Exhaust System: Quiet, with no leaks. Your muffler and tail pipe should be at peak efficiency to offset the dangers of carbon monoxide fumes.
3. Lights: Adjusted and functioning properly. Include checks on headlights, taillights, stop lights and all directional signals.
4. Steering: Properly aligned and with no excessive play.
5. Windshield Wipers: In good condition, with proper tension and clean wiping action. Add windshield washer anti-freeze.
6. Glass: Clear and clean all around, with no cracks or discoloration.
7. Mirrors: Clean and adjusted for proper viewing, whether rear or side view.
8. Horn: Operating loud and clear.

You should also check your oil weight, automatic choke and manifold heater, battery and battery cables, points, plugs, condenser, cooling system, thermostat, heater, defroster and antifreeze. Total winterization of your car insures reliable transportation. "Take the Bite Out of Winter."

Advertising isn't just business, it's news. Advertising, especially in newspapers, is also instructive. Since "Do it Yourself" fads came into being in the 60's, hardware stores, lumber stores, and many others have found their best advertising to be the "Tips on Doing" kind.

There is an element of news in almost every good advertisement. For instance, ads may tell of news of products, news of fashions, news of display, and news about savings.

The Dealer who is a careful reader of advertising, his own and that of competitors, learns news of great importance to his business. He can talk of his product in comparison with others. He knows specific facts and measurements. His product is easier to sell to a confident customer.

Retail consumers are regular readers of newsy advertisements. A factual ad tells the consumer what he is buying before he even steps into the store. Truthful salesmanship to a well-informed customer eliminates the possibility of anyone being cheated on a deal. This type of advertising is best suited to newspapers which the consumer studies with confidence.

Advertising is not or should not be straight news without persuasion. But even honest persuasion is news. The businessman slants his advertisements to a better informed customer each year--a public which wants to be sold better things.

A reader doesn't expect the news angle to be "red hot", to be interesting. Instead the consumer looks for a story of benefit, of a new product, package, or use--in other words, something the consumer is interested in hearing about because it affects his pocketbook.

WELFARE PAYOUT DOUBLES DESPITE PEAK PROSPERITY

Medical Assistance for the Aged is the newest and fastest growing of the Federal welfare programs, but Aid to Dependent Children has piled up the biggest cost increase in the last five years, Tax Foundation, Inc. said today.

The number of ADC recipients increased from 3.6 million in 1961 to 4.5 million in 1965 and the cost increased by more than half a billion dollars a year, from $1.2 billion in 1961 to $1.8 billion last year.

Despite general prosperity during the period, total public welfare payments by state and local governments reached $6.3 billion last year or nearly double the cost in 1957, the Foundation said in taking a perspective look at such costs for the forthcoming 14th edition of its biennial handbook, Facts and Figures on Government Finance.

Although the Federal government now pays about half the cost of the major welfare programs, the increasing cost of public assistance shows up in state and local budgets at two and three times the amounts spent for such purposes not so many years ago. In order to qualify for Federal aid, both state and local welfare administrations must comply with standards set in Washington.

Attempts by local governing bodies to set eligibility requirements or benefits more in line with local conditions have usually been quickly squelched both by state and Federal welfare authorities.

A recent move in one New Jersey county, where welfare costs have been soaring, to punish parents of illegitimate children who become public charges, brought a quick warning from the State's Commissioner of Institutions and Agencies.

He said the county would not only lose its state and Federal welfare aid, but that if the county carried out the proposal, the entire state might be cut off from Federal aid.

The same week, the same New York City newspapers which reported the New Jersey incident, reported the City's welfare offices were being picketed by parents demanding an additional $80 allowance in ADC payments for school clothes. Five of the 50 demonstrators, "mostly mothers on welfare," sat in one first floor office for three days. The present ADC clothing allowance in New York is a monthly $9.60 per child.

SCRAPING OUT THE SURPLUS BINS

Undoubtedly the "sleeper" story of the year -- and maybe the century -- is the sudden shrinking of America's once seemingly inexhaustible stocks of food.

For the first time in more than a decade, reports the New York Times, the nation is depending almost entirely on current production of farm products to meet its domestic and foreign requirements. This is especially so of grains. The only exception to the picture is cotton.

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK AP - Life is a sentence that begins and ends with a question mark.

True education is impossible to anyone who lacks a questioning spirit.

But the smart fellow learns early that sometimes it isn't merely wisdom that you acquire by asking questions - you can also get a punch in the nose.

When in doubt, let the other fellow ask the question; then learn by the answer he gets.

But there are some questions that are bound to lead to nothing but trouble - and it is wiser never to bother asking them.

Such as:

"What makes you think that this gun isn't loaded?"

"So what if I didn't declare that two hundred bucks in my tax report. Are you going to make a federal case out of it?"

"Who yuh shoving, Mac?"

"Are you just going to stand there and let him talk like that to your very own wife?"

"Why don't you just put up - or shut up?"

"If something ever happened to me, would you consider marrying again?"

"Who's chicken?"

"Just how do you figure, Millicent, that two can live as cheap as one?"

"For Pete's sake, didn't your mother teach you how to cook?"

"Shall we start off by playing for a buck a hole?"

"Do you mean that if I just throw out the dice, and one comes up four and the other comes up three, that I get all the money on the table?"

"Well, just what is it about the new mathematics that has you puzzled, son?"

"Do you think money grows on trees?"

"Haven't we met before?"

"Are you looking for volunteers, captain?"

"Do you think if I turned the faucet one more time with the wrench, it would stop the dripping?"

"Shall I just sign the check, and you fill in the exact amount later?"

"Do you want one for the road -- or two?"

"Why did you every marry me in the first place?"

"Can't anyone on your side of the family every do anything right?"

"Haven't I already taken you out one night this month?"

"Is there anything else I can do for you, boss?"

'But will you love me in November as you did in May?'

A number of factors are responsible, chief among them the world population explosion. But an increasing consumption of meat, both here and in the more affluent countries abroad, has also led to an increasing demand for grain for animal feed.

With other commodities, such as soybeans, crops have either not come up to expectations or demand has been greater than planned for.

Another factor is bureaucratic meddling in the form of what NEA correspondent Ray Cromley describes as an antiquated system of controls designed for an era of overabundance.

Farmers are told how much they can plant and penalized by a reduction in government subsidy payments if they exceed this limit. Not only has this system discouraged wheat farmers from increasing production but it has encouraged others, such as small, marginal cotton growers, to continue planting this crop in order to qualify for the sure profit of subsidies rather than shifting to other crops where there is a booming market demand.

In terms of wheat, the arithmetic is simple:

This year's crop is forecast at about 1.2 billion bushels. Domestic needs and export shipments are estimated at 1.5 billion bushels. Consequently, as much as 300 million bushels may have to come out of reserves which, as of June 30, were down to 436 million bushels, the lowest in 13 years.

To the starving part of the world, if this trend were permitted to continue, it could mean disaster. For the American housewife, it could mean an even higher price tag on a loaf of bread.

Corn stocks held by the government are at 100 million bushels, down from 450 million last year, and the government has stopped selling corn for export entirely.

Many people have long been demanding the "unleashing" of the American farmer to raise as much as he wants of what he wants and to let the free market govern supply and demand.

In the past, the main cause for alarm was the enormous expense of paying farmers for not growing things and to maintain the warehouses bulging with the things they did grow.

In the remaining years of this century, the American farmer may very well have to be unleashed--not to save money but to save people.

COMMUNISM WHEN TRIED LOSES

Unlike vice, that "creature of such horrid mien that to be hated need but to be seen," Communism; horn, hair and hide, to be truly hated needs but to be tried.

The advantage of Communism is its bewitching description of itself. "To each, according to his need. From each, according to his ability." Nothing sounds better to the ordinary man. No more will he have to envy the rich, deplore his poverty. We all shall equal be.

If Communism provides this paradise on each, why the overthrow of some communist governments? Common sense tells us all are overthrown, where there is enough strength left in the people to overcome the Red police state. Why the defector from countries where revolt is impossible or fails? The fugitives are not the rich, they are already dead or chained in servitude. Those who flee are plain people who have realized too late the deadly menace of Communism. They hate Communism because they have tried it and found it not only wanting but a more tyrannical power than they had dreamed could exist.

In no communist country do the people have a voice in their government. The Party alone speaks and only the Party must be heard. The communist nation is in theory a unanimous one because no voice can with safety be raised in dissent.

So, as peoples rise in human logic to establish their nationalism, even if benevolently ruled from abroad, Communism woos them with the deception cant of Marx that has nowhere been applied in realism. So many accept these as true until under the lash they learn too late that the Red wooers never meant what they said. HLH.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- This column, having watched members of congress over the years, herewith lists some who deserve to win, some who deserve to lose next Tuesday.

Here are some candidates who deserve to lose:

Mike Kirwan, Democrat of Youngstown, Ohio. He bamboozled the house into putting up half a million dollars to plan a $3 billion canal between his home town on Lake Erie and Pittsburgh. The appropriation was passed without an authorization, which is illegal. Kirwan, however, holds the purse strings on money for Democratic congressmen's re-election, gets what he wants.

Rep. Mike Feighan, Democrat of Cleveland, who sees bogiemen under almost everyone's bed, called Mrs. Roosevelt a Nigger - lover, and has one of the worst junketing - absentee records in congress. It almost equals that of Adam Clayton Powell of Harlem.

Ex-Rep. John Pillion, Republican of Buffalo, has the 100 per cent support of the Liberty Lobby, which said of him, October 25: "The Liberal Rockefeller-controlled Republican machine tried to defeat Pillion in the June primary but was unsuccesful. We are looking forward to welcoming Mr. Pillion back to Washington." Pillion is one of the few Republican congressmen who refused to attend the memorial services of the late President Kennedy after his assassination.

Rep. Harold Cooley, North Carolina Democrat, who wrote the abortive sugar bill which favored his own lobbyist friends. The sugar bill was so bad it had to be completely revamped in the senate.

Joe Pool, Democrat of Dallas. His rider banning food-for-peace to any country which had shipped supplies to Communist countries meant junking highly effective food programs to many friendly countries. The congress was tied up an extra week ironing out the Pool rider.

Rep. Charles Gubser, California right - wing Republican who loves to junket abroad, the latest having been a trip to Paris with the House Armed Services Committee in 1965, a time when President De Gaulle was slapping the USA and when President Johnson had urged Americans not to travel abroad. The Pentagon supplied Gubser and his colleagues with a B-707, costing $1,000 an hour to fly and $2,000 a day while waiting on stopovers. Gubser also used his free franking privilege to mail out 30,000 newsletters excoriating Chief Justice Earl Warren, former Republican governor of California.

THEY DESERVE VICTORY

Here are some congressmen who deserve to win:

Rep. Joseph Vigorito, Pennsylvania Democrat, who had the courage to oppose Mike Kirwan's $3 billion ditch. As a result he's getting very little money from the Democratic Congressional Committee which Kirwan heads, but faces a deluge of American Medical Association money because he not only voted for medicare but is running against a doctor.

Rep. Richard S. Schweiker, Republican of Pennsylvania, one of the few candidates who returned a campaign contribution. Schweiker voted to repeal the Taft - Hartley's right - to - work section, later returned a $250 contribution to the International Ladies Garment Workers Union. He didn't want it to appear that his vote was paid for.

Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, New York Democrat, who had the foresight to foresee the high price of food long in advance and last summer proposed legislation to set up a consumers department inside the government.

John J. Logue, Pennvylvania Democrat, running in a suburban Philadelphia district which hasn't gone Democratic in 90 years and is controlled by the famous McClure machine. At one time most of its members, including its boss, John McClure, were convicted of rum-running. McClure's tax assessor got six months; his committee magistrate one year; the treasurer of Chester one year; two deputy sheriffs, one 18 months and one a year. They were saved only by the end of prohibition.

George Bush of Houston, Texas, son of ex-Sen. Prescott Bush of Connecticut, a foe of the ultra right wing.

Walter Farley, Pennsylvania Democrat, schoolteacher and electrical engineer, who is battling the old Grundy machine in Bucks County, Pa.

William C. Godfrey, California independent, a San Diego insurance man who is bucking the ultra right wing.

Rep. Floyd Hicks, Washington Democrat, who has brought some fresh air into congress.

Marty Steadman, Long Island Liberal, former crusading reporter of the now defunct New York Herald Tribune. Thanks to Steadman, the Trib won five major journalism awards. Now Steadman wants to come to Washington to help clean it up. Other congressmen aren't at all happy about his ambition.

They note that Steadman has already pointed to the fact that Rep. Gene Keogh, Brooklyn Democrat, collects $200 monthly from Uncle Sam to pay part of his law office rent in Rockefeller Center, a long way from Brooklyn; and that Adam Clayton Powelll has no Harlem District office though he draws $200 monthly from Uncle Sam, spends it on a personal apartment hideaway.

Finally, Steadman has exposed the fact that congressman John W. Wydler, the Republican whom he is trying to defeat, drew $200 a month from Uncle Sam for office space but used it for his law partner's office. He also keeps a stenographer, Miss Dorothy Brown, on the payroll at $379 a month in his partner's law office. Ethical congressmen divorce themselves from their law practice, but Wydler even has Uncle Sam helping to pay his rent and the law firm's secretary.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Labor Leaders Break All Records; Pour More Money And Manpower Into Politics Than in Any Past Campaigns

Washington, D.C.: -- Just the other day virtually every national labor leader -- and some not so national -- received a telegram from a man they barely knew asking for money and manpower.

The wire was from W.H. Montague, president of the Georgia federation of labor. The cause was a write-in campaign for little Ellis Arnall, who once refused to yield the Georgia state capitol to Herman Talmadge and now is running a roaring drive to keep Lester Maddox out of it.

Mostly the wire was ignored, for it fell like a big yellow flake in a deluge of similar telegraphic exhortations. This was the season of the pursuit of the purse of political candidates, especially Democrats whose national party was offering little financially.

But labor could. And it did -- but in the key races.

Most of the money went to Democrats. Some, however, helped bankroll 20 major Republican candidates -- the biggest G.O.P. list since the late Herbert Hoover.

How much money? No one will say officially. But a little pencil work shows almost $10 million has been spent by labor's political committees.

Understandably, labor's national machine, Committee on Political Education (COPE), will punch out no figures. But this has been labor's biggest political push -- more avalanching than the national campaigns for the late John Kennedy and the world-trotting Lyndon Johnson. For all this there are the rapid-fire words of labor's own Jim Farley, COPE's perpetual motion director, Al Barkan.

"All I know is that this year we have more action," says Barken, "more men, more funds, more precinct workers than ever before. There is no doubt that this year labor's effort is better than even 1960 and 1964. The drive, the money raised, the manpower, the direct mailing, the millions of copies of direct mail to California, Illinois and Pennsylvania is overwhelmingly ahead of all those years when we did the old-fashioned thing of distributing literature at plant gates."

Where was all this going? Well, Sen. Lee Metcalf, the Montana incumbent, told the labor politicos that if it were not for them he would not have been "in the ball game."

The big drives, of course, obviously costing millions of dollars, have been in Illinois and California. For this, America's top labor chief, George Meany, assigned two task forces, one for each state, on the theory that the big memberships there would listen to their own union presidents more than to labor's professional drumbeaters.

For Illinois, it was a team of the laconic but most effective and respected Joe Keenan, of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers; Dick Walsh, friend of Jack Valenti and head of the state hands' alliance; I.W. (Abe) Abel, head of the giant steelworkers' union, and the little known elder statesman George Harrison, president emeritus of the railway clerks.

They were with Paul Douglas all the way and never doubted he could beat Charles Percy.

Labor's same type California task force hit it hard. For example, they came up with 1,300,000 special union names and addresses, and they circularized and recircularized over the signatures of the memberships' international leaders.

But this is just part of the supersonic politics. Virtually in every one of the 61 districts won by friendly congressmen in 1964 with a five per cent margin, the unions placed several of their best organizers.

Wherever they could they used ultramodern electronic data processing to find the member who did not vote the last time, and get him registered and set for the polls this time. Part of this strategy was handled by the "other brother," Roy Reuther, a pro amongst pros.

And behind it all was a set of basic stategems. If when they meet during the week of Nov. 14 the national labor chiefs can count up a friendly Congress, they'll take the offensive and push for repeal of 14-B common (broader) situs picketing laws and everything they did not get during the past Congress.

If the tally shows a "lost" Congress, the tactic will be defensive.

The stance will be a holding operation until '68 -- an effort to head off restrictive strike laws which would prevent such walkouts as the airline and Westinghouse stoppages.

That's why this was the year of the biggest push of all.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

Missourians have a chance to endorse home rule in Tuesday's general election.

They should do it.

The emphasis on centralized power is too great. Local, self government shoud be encouraged. It will help restore needed balance.

The vote on the issue Tuesday applies to St. Louis and St. Louis county but the principle applies everywhere.

By strengthening self government in the city of St. Louis and St. Louis county it is bolstered everywhere.

There also is a selfish reason for a "yes" vote. If the state legislature is freed from the problem it can turn to issues, which are more important to residents living elsewhere in Missouri.

A "yes" vote will acknowledge that the problems of 1966 are unlike those in 1878 and give the St. Louis metropolitan area the flexibility it needs to solve its problems. The state's 1945 constitution is rigid and unrealistic.

The St. Louis area has never been able to take advantage of four ways authorized by the 1945 constitution to solve its problems. The problems have remained. There has been no solution.

Many governmental problems in St. Louis and St. Louis county overlap--traffic, law enforcement, fire protection, health and education among them.

Others conflict and confuse.

Taxation is a tangled briar patch.

The constitutional amendment on which Missourians vote Tuesday permits people in the St. Louis area to utilize any approach to a solution of common problems.

It will appear as a separate ballot as constitutional amendment No. 1 with this title: "Authorize St. Louis County and St. Louis City to adopt a plan for partial or complete government of all or any part of the county and city and provide the method of selecting a board of freeholders."

Vote "yes", scratch no, and help make local government tick.

COLD MORNING MISERIES STOPPED BY EIGHT CHECKS

Cold Morning Miseries will be upon us before you can say Jack Frost. The best way to avoid non-start car troubles is to "Take the Bite Out of Winter" with a list of eight safety checks.

The list includes:

1. Brakes: Properly adjusted, linings not worn, and with correct fluid levels and clearances. Also have your shock absorbers checked.
2. Exhaust System: Quiet, with no leaks. Your muffler and tail pipe should be at peak efficiency to offset the dangers of carbon monooxide fumes.
3. Lights: Adjusted and functioning properly. Include checks on headlights, taillights, stop lights and all directional signals.
4. Steering: Properly aligned and with no excessive play.
5. Windshield Wipers: In good condition, with proper tension and clean wiping action. Add windshield washer anti-freeze.
6. Glass: Clear and clean all around, with no cracks or discoloration.
7. Mirrors: Clean and adjusted for proper viewing, whether rear or side view.
8. Horn: Operating loud and clear.

You should also check your oil weight, automatic choke and manifold heater, battery and battery cables, points, plugs, condenser, cooling system, thermostat, heater, defroster and antifreeze. Total winterization of your car insures reliable transportation. "Take the Bite Out of Winter."

Advertising isn't just business, it's news. Advertising, especially in newspapers, is also instructive. Since "Do it Yourself" fads came into being in the 60's, hardware stores, lumber stores, and many others have found their best advertising to be the "Tips on Doing" kind.

There is an element of news in almost every good advertisement. For instance, ads may tell of news of products, news of fashions, news of display, and news about savings.

The Dealer who is a careful reader of advertising, his own and that of competitors, learns news of great importance to his business. He can talk of his product in comparison with others. He knows specific facts and measurements. His product is easier to sell to a confident customer.

Retail consumers are regular readers of newsy advertisements. A factual ad tells the consumer what he is buying before he even steps into the store. Truthful salesmanship to a well-informed customer eliminates the possibility of anyone being cheated on a deal. This type of advertising is best suited to newspapers which the consumer studies with confidence.

Advertising is not or should not be straight news without persuasion. But even honest persuasion is news. The businessman slants his advertisements to a better informed customer each year--a public which wants to be sold better things.

A reader doesn't expect the news angle to be "red hot", to be interesting. Instead the consumer looks for a story of benefit, of a new product, package, or use--in other words, something the consumer is interested in hearing about because it affects his pocketbook.

WELFARE PAYOUT DOUBLES DESPITE PEAK PROSPERITY

Medical Assistance for the Aged is the newest and fastest growing of the Federal welfare programs, but Aid to Dependent Children has piled up the biggest cost increase in the last five years, Tax Foundation, Inc. said today.

The number of ADC recipients increased from 3.6 million in 1961 to 4.5 million in 1965 and the cost increased by more than half a billion dollars a year, from $1.2 billion in 1961 to $1.8 billion last year.

Despite general prosperity during the period, total public welfare payments by state and local governments reached $6.3 billion last year or nearly double the cost in 1957, the Foundation said in taking a perspective look at such costs for the forthcoming 14th edition of its biennial handbook, Facts and Figures on Government Finance.

Although the Federal government now pays about half the cost of the major welfare programs, the increasing cost of public assistance shows up in state and local budgets at two and three times the amounts spent for such purposes not so many years ago. In order to qualify for Federal aid, both state and local welfare administrations must comply with standards set in Washington.

Attempts by local governing bodies to set eligibility requirements or benefits more in line with local conditions have usually been quickly squelched both by state and Federal welfare authorities.

A recent move in one New Jersey county, where welfare costs have been soaring, to punish parents of illegitimate children who become public charges, brought a quick warning from the State's Commissioner of Institutions and Agencies.

He said the county would not only lose its state and Federal welfare aid, but that if the county carried out the proposal, the entire state might be cut off from Federal aid.

The same week, the same New York City newspapers which reported the New Jersey incident, reported the City's welfare offices were being picketed by parents demanding an additional $80 allowance in ADC payments for school clothes. Five of the 50 demonstrators, "mostly mothers on welfare," sat in one first floor office for three days. The present ADC clothing allowance in New York is a monthly $9.60 per child.

SCRAPING OUT THE SURPLUS BINS

Undoubtedly the "sleeper" story of the year -- and maybe the century -- is the sudden shrinking of America's once seemingly inexhaustible stocks of food.

For the first time in more than a decade, reports the New York Times, the nation is depending almost entirely on current production of farm products to meet its domestic and foreign requirements. This is especially so of grains. The only exception to the picture is cotton.

True education is impossible to anyone who lacks a questioning spirit.

But the smart fellow learns early that sometimes it isn't merely wisdom that you acquire by asking questions - you can also get a punch in the nose.

When in doubt, let the other fellow ask the question; then learn by the answer he gets.

But there are some questions that are bound to lead to nothing but trouble - and it is wiser never to bother asking them.

Such as:

"What makes you think that this gun isn't loaded?"

"So what if I didn't declare that two hundred bucks in my tax report. Are you going to make a federal case out of it?"

H. L. Hunt Says

COMMUNISM WHEN TRIED LOSES

Unlike vice, that "creature of such horrid mien that to be hated need but to be seen," Communism; horn, hair and hide, to be truly hated needs but to be tried.

The advantage of Communism is its bewitching description of itself. "To each, according to his need. From each, according to his ability." Nothing sounds better to the ordinary man. No more will he have to envy the rich, deplore his poverty. We all shall equal be.

If Communism provides this paradise on each, why the overthrow of some communist governments? Common sense tells us all are overthrown, where there is enough strength left in the people to overcome the Red police state. Why the defector from countries where revolt is impossible or fails? The fugitives are not the rich, they are already dead or chained in servitude. Those who flee are plain people who have realized too late the deadly menace of Communism. They hate Communism because they have tried it and found it not only wanting but a more tyrannical power than they had dreamed could exist.

In no communist country do the people have a voice in their government. The Party alone speaks and only the Party must be heard. The communist nation is in theory a unanimous one because no voice can with safety be raised in dissent.

So, as peoples rise in human logic to establish their nationalism, even if benevolently ruled from abroad, Communism woos them with the deception cant of Marx that has nowhere been applied in realism. So many accept these as true until under the lash they learn too late that the Red wooers never meant what they said. H.L.H.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON -- This column, having watched members of congress over the years, herewith lists some who deserve to win, some who deserve to lose next Tuesday.

Here are some candidates who deserve to lose:

Mike Kirwan, Democrat of Youngstown, Ohio. He bamboozled the house into putting up half a million dollars to plan a $3 billion canal between his home town on Lake Erie and Pittsburgh. The appropriation was passed without an authorization, which is illegal. Kirwan, however, holds the purse strings on money for Democratic congressmen's reelection, gets what he wants.

Rep. Mike Feighan, Democrat of Cleveland, who sees bogiemen under almost everyone's bed, called Mrs. Roosevelt a Nigger - lover, and has one of the worst junketing - absentee records in congress. It almost equals that of Adam Clayton Powell of Harlem.

Ex-Rep. John Pillion, Republican of Buffalo, has the 100 per cent support of the Liberty Lobby, which said of him, October 25: "The Liberal Rockefeller-controlled Republican machine tried to defeat Pillion in the June primary but was unsuccesful. We are looking forward to welcoming Mr. Pillion back to Washington." Pillion is one of the few Republican congressmen who refused to attend the memorial services of the late President Kennedy after his assassination.

Rep. Harold Cooley, North Carolina Democrat, who wrote the abortive sugar bill which favored his own lobbyist friends. The sugar bill was so bad it had to be completely revamped in the senate.

Joe Pool, Democrat of Dallas. His rider banning food-for-peace to any country which had shipped supplies to Communist countries meant junking highly effective food programs to many friendly countries. The congress was tied up an extra week ironing out the Pool rider.

Rep. Charles Gubser, California right - wing Republican who loves to junket abroad, the latest having been a trip to Paris with the House Armed Services Committee in 1965, a time when President De Gaulle was slapping the USA and when President Johnson had urged Americans not to travel abroad. The Pentagon supplied Gubser and his colleagues with a B-707, costing $1,000 an hour to fly and $2,000 a day while waiting on stopovers. Gubser also used his free franking privilege to mail out 30,000 newsletters excoriating Chief Justice Earl Warren, former Republican governor of California.

THEY DESERVE VICTORY

Here are some congressmen who deserve to win:

Rep. Joseph Vigorito, Pennsylvania Democrat, who had the courage to oppose Mike Kirwan's $3 billion ditch. As a result he's getting very little money from the Democratic Congressional Committee which Kirwan heads, but faces a deluge of American Medical Association money because he not only voted for medicare but is running against a doctor.

Rep. Richard S. Schweiker, Republican of Pennsylvania, one of the few candidates who returned a campaign contribution. Schweiker voted to repeal the Taft - Hartley's right - to - work section, later returned a $250 contribution to the International Ladies Garment Workers Union. He didn't want it to appear that his vote was paid for.

Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, New York Democrat, who had the foresight to foresee the high price of food long in advance and last summer proposed legislation to set up a consumers department inside the government.

John J. Logue, Pennvylvania Democrat, running in a suburban Philadelphia district which hasn't gone Democratic in 90 years and is controlled by the famous McClure machine. At one time most of its members, including its boss, John McClure, were convicted of rum-running. McClure's tax assessor got six months; his committee magistrate one year; the treasurer of Chester one year; two deputy sheriffs, one 18 months and one a year. They were saved only by the end of prohibition.

George Bush of Houston, Texas, son of ex-Sen. Prescott Bush of Connecticut, a foe of the ultra right wing.

William C. Godfrey, California independent, a San Diego insurance man who is bucking the ultra right wing.

Rep. Floyd Hicks, Washington Democrat, who has brought some fresh air into congress.

Marty Steadman, Long Island Liberal, former crusading reporter of the now defunct New York Herald Tribune. Thanks to Steadman, the Trib won five major journalism awards. Now Steadman wants to come to Washington to help clean it up. Other congressmen aren't at all happy about his ambition.

They note that Steadman has already pointed to the fact that Rep. Gene Keogh, Brooklyn Democrat, collects $200 monthly from Uncle Sam to pay part of his law office rent in Rockefeller Center, a long way from Brooklyn; and that Adam Clayton Powelll has no Harlem District office though he draws $200 monthly from Uncle Sam, spends it on a personal apartment hideaway.

Finally, Steadman has exposed the fact that congressman John W. Wydler, the Republican whom he is trying to defeat, drew $200 a month from Uncle Sam for office space but used it for his law partner's office. He also keeps a stenographer, Miss Dorothy Brown, on the payroll at $379 a month in his partner's law office. Ethical congressmen divorce themselves from their law practice, but Wydler even has Uncle Sam helping to pay his rent and the law firm's secretary.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Labor Leaders Break All Records; Pour More Money And Manpower Into Politics Than in Any Past Campaigns

Washington, D.C.: -- Just the other day virtually every national labor leader -- and some not so national -- received a telegram from a man they barely knew asking for money and manpower.

The wire was from W.H. Montague, president of the Georgia federation of labor. The cause was a write-in campaign for little Ellis Arnall, who once refused to yield the Georgia state capitol to Herman Talmadge and now is running a roaring drive to keep Lester Maddox out of it.

Mostly the wire was ignored, for it fell like a big yellow flake in a deluge of similar telegraphic exhortations. This was the season of the pursuit of the purse of political candidates, especially Democrats whose national party was offering little financially.

But labor could. And it did -- but in the key races.

Most of the money went to Democrats. Some, however, helped bankroll 20 major Republican candidates -- the biggest G.O.P. list since the late Herbert Hoover.

How much money? No one will say officially. But a little pencil work shows almost $10 million has been spent by labor's political committees.

Understandably, labor's national machine, Committee on Political Education (COPE), will punch out no figures. But this has been labor's biggest political push -- more avalanching than the national campaigns for the late John Kennedy and the world-trotting Lyndon Johnson. For all this there are the rapid-fire words of labor's own Jim Farley, COPE's perpetual motion director, Al Barkan.

"All I know is that this year we have more action," says Barken, "more men, more funds, more precinct workers than ever before. There is no doubt that this year labor's effort is better than even 1960 and 1964. The drive, the money raised, the manpower, the direct mailing, the millions of copies of direct mail to California, Illinois and Pennsylvania is overwhelmingly ahead of all those years when we did the old-fashioned thing of distributing literature at plant gates."

Where was all this going? Well, Sen. Lee Metcalf, the Montana incumbent, told the labor politicos that if it were not for them he would not have been "in the ball game."

The big drives, of course, obviously costing millions of dollars, have been in Illinois and California. For this, America's top labor chief, George Meany, assigned two task forces, one for each state, on the theory that the big memberships there would listen to their own union presidents more than to labor's professional drumbeaters.

For Illinois, it was a team of the laconic but most effective and respected Joe Keenan, of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers; Dick Walsh, friend of Jack Valenti and head of the state hands' alliance; I.W. (Abe) Abel, head of the giant steelworkers' union, and the little known elder statesman George Harrison, president emeritus of the railway clerks.

They were with Paul Douglas all the way and never doubted he could beat Charles Percy.

Labor's same type California task force hit it hard. For example, they came up with 1,300,000 special union names and addresses, and they circularized and recircularized over the signatures of the memberships' international leaders.

But this is just part of the supersonic politics. Virtually in every one of the 61 districts won by friendly congressmen in 1964 with a five per cent margin, the unions placed several of their best organizers.

Wherever they could they used ultramodern electronic data processing to find the member who did not vote the last time, and get him registered and set for the polls this time. Part of this strategy was handled by the "other brother," Roy Reuther, a pro amongst pros.

And behind it all was a set of basic stategems. If when they meet during the week of Nov. 14 the national labor chiefs can count up a friendly Congress, they'll take the offensive and push for repeal of 14-B common (broader) situs picketing laws and everything they did not get during the past Congress.

If the tally shows a "lost" Congress, the tactic will be defensive.

The stance will be a holding operation until '68 -- an effort to head off restrictive strike laws which would prevent such walkouts as the airline and Westinghouse stoppages.

That's why this was the year of the biggest push of all.

Tiger Homecoming

MU Squares Off Against Colorado

COLUMBIA -- Ever since Coach Devine came to Tigerland eight years ago, most Missour-Colorado football clashes have been resolved by a take-charge quarterback.

The Buffs have found themselves one, and Missouri is still looking for a leader. Maybe that's why Dandy Dan fears another Danny - boy -- Kelly of Colorado -- as both clubs approach their Big Eight rendezvous here in Memorial Stadium Saturday afternoon.

Crammed into the Tigers' sunken arena for this 55th Homecoming spectacle will be 57,000 onlookers -- a sellout crowd and second - largest in the stadium's history. Kickoff is at 1:30 p.m.

Kelly, a sprint - out sprite who runs nimbly behind the blocks of fullback Wilmer Cooks, has been the sparkplug in Colorado's resurgent attack. Taking over the veteran Bernie McCall at Mid-season, the 5-10 junior from Aurora, Colo., led the Buffs to wins over Iowa State and Oklahoma, and a near - miss 21-19 loss to Nebraska's unbeaten league - leaders.

In just three games, the Herd's newest hero has jumped to No. 7 among conference rushers, averaging 4.1 yards a crack. Two other teammates are just above him -- fleet William Harris in the No. 4 slot with a 5½-yard average, and Cooks No. 6 with a 3.8 - yard figure.

"They just seem to move the ball," commented Devine this week in unconcealed envy. "I was sorry to read that Eddy (Crowder) gave them a night off. I was hoping they'd work on some new plays--that's the only place they seem to get in trouble."

Winner over Oklahoma, 24-21, in a poised effort last Saturday, Crowder's quick-and-strong Buffaloes took over rushing offense leadership in the conference at 224.7 yards a game -- and total offense honors, too, at 326.9 yards per game.

Agile huskies up front make the Buffaloes roll. Scout Bob Frala calls their line take - off "superb -- they all move as one." Defensively, Sam Harris -- an all - America prospect at end -- and linebacker Dick Anderson are most impressive.

Ol' Mizzou, by contrast, must re-stitch its offensive line this week after losing sophomore starters Bob Parker and Jim Anderson with disabling injuries in the Nebraska game. Parker, a guard, dislocated his elbow, while Anderson -- tangy, blond tackle -- damaged a knee. Devine also was concerned with the early - week gimpiness of fullback Barry Lischner, re-activated last week after being disabled since the Illinois game with a bad knee. Lischner carried three times against Nebraska.

Jim Willsey, lettered junior, is a possible starter for Parker -- while Roger Short moves up for Anderson. At fullback, Bob Powell will start if the rugged Lischner is again grounded.

Bruised egos have to heal, too -- after that 35-0 thrashing by Nebraska, M. U.'s worst whipping since 1958. Oklahoma, for instance, didn't recover sufficiently from a similar defeat by Notre Dame to handle the Boulderites in their next start.

Coach Devine switched the quarterback burden to sophomore Dan Sharp this week, giving the rookie his first starting call over Gary Kombrink. Curiously, both Sharp -- offered a pro baseball bonus fresh out of high school -- and his Buff counterpart, Kelly, are outstanding baseball players. Sharp is a pitcher, while Kelly was an all - Big Eight shortstop last spring.

Historically, as mentioned, quarterbacks have grabbed the headlines in this rivalry since Devine joined the league in 1958. That year, Tiger Phil Snowden -- playing with a fibre - glass girdle to protect cracked vertebrae -- led Mizzou to three touchdowns in less than four minutes to reverse a 9-0 Colorado advantage in a game won by the Tigers, 33-9.

In 1959 and 1961, Gale Weidner whipped home the passes that gave Colorado hairbreadth 21-20 and 7-6 decisions at Boulder. From 1963 through 1965, Missouri's Gary Lane supplied the individual heroics each time -- building a Bengal victory string that now has stretched to four in a row.

The Tigers lead 21-6-3 in the all - time rivalry that was launched in 1930 with a 9-0 victory by Colorado here.

Kickoff: 1:30 P.M. (CST) at Memorial Stadium, Columbia; Expected Attendance: 57,000; Offensive Formations: Colorado - Slot and I formation; Missouri -- Wing T, unbalanced line;

Series Record: Missouri won 21, Colorado 6, Tied 3.

Four Area Prep Teams End Gridiron Season Tonight

By Rudy Manley

Four Southeast Missouri high school football teams end their season tonight.

Poplar Bluff closes its season at Jefferson City. Chaffee goes to Cruthersville in a Southern conference game. East Prairie is host to Cairo. Hayti visits Portageville for its final southern division game.

Sikeston and Malden are idle this week and end their season next Friday night.

Sikeston travels to Blytheville. Malden will be host to Dexter.

In other final games next week Perryville will be at Cape Girardeau Central, Charleston will be host to Jackson, Caruthersville visits Kennett, and Portageville ends its season as host to Piggott, Ark.

The areas top game tonight will be the Poplar Bluff Mules -- Jefferson Jay contest. Jeff City recently had a 71 game winning streak broken by Columbia Hickman. Since, they have won three straight and are looking forward to the game with Poplar Bluff.

Mike Farmer and David Forester could make the difference as they make a good combination quarterback and halfback.

Bluff City's offense and defense have their work cut out for them. In Ben Wyatt, Bluff has one of the top quarterbacks in Southeast Missouri. Wyatt, along with John Brown, Eddie Moss, Larry Vaughn, and John Piper, is going to make a strong offense that could prove fatal to the Jays.

Defense is also going to make a great difference in the game and both teams also have what it takes to make it an all round good game. It is going to be a hard fought game from start to finish. Either team could finish the victory.

The Cape Central Tigers travel to Charleston for a game that could decide, who will take possession of third place in the Northern conference. Cape holds down third place but if they lose they stand a chance of giving it up to Charleston. Cape and Charleston are well matched and it could prove to be a close game. Charlie Babb will again take the quarterbacking duties for the Jays. Babb can throw the pass and also does a fine job of running. Cape also has a fine quarterback in Pat Godwin. Godwin has established a name for himself in the passing column and along with his fine backfield should prove a strong challenge to the Jay defense.

Perryville plays host to the Jackson Indians in another conference game. This game will determine who will be the cellar dweller of the northern conference.

Kennett, which is in fourth place in the northern conference, travels to Dexter in a non - conference tilt tonight. Although this game will not have any bearing on the conference standing of either team, their records are at stake.

The champion of the Southern conference will be determined this week as Hayti travels to Portageville. Both teams have a 4-1 record.

The Chaffee Red Devils are still looking for their first victim as they travel to Caruthersville. The Red Devils, who stand 0-5, take on the Tigers, who are sporting a 5-1 won - loss record. This game could possibly mean first place in the Southern conference for the Tigers.

In the final game for the night, the Cairo Pilots go to East Prairie for a non-conference game.

Sikeston and Malden are idle tonight. Sikeston is preparing for the game next Friday with Blytheville, and Malden is getting ready for the conference game next week with the Dexter Bearcats.

I am a legal secretary and the lawyer for whom I work handles many malpractice suits. One particular case involved hospital records, which I realized were highly embarrassing to him when he dictated the intimate medical terms and occasional four-letter words. He squirmed through the dictation, frequently apologizing for the phrases he had to use.

Finished, he drew a sigh of relief. Then, noticing my equal look of relief, he looked at me with a mean glint in his eye and said, "Now, read that back to me."

Parma Edges Bloomfield

BLOOMFIELD -- Rebounding from an opening season defeat at the hands of the Matthews quintet the Parma Pirates took a 32-28 overtime victory over the host Wildcats yesterday.

Led by Carroll Cravens with 12 points, three coming in the overtime period, the Pirates fought from behind in each quarter, entering the fourth quarter trailing 25-24.

Allan White tied the game for the Pirates, the ball was in flight when the whistle went off and a goal was good for a 26-26 tie.

Parma, after trailing 10-5 the first quarter and 19-11 at the half, found its shooting eye and continued to whittle at the Wildcats' score.

Parma took the extra period tipoff, went down court and scored on Cravens' 18-foot jumper. White added one point in the extra period. Jerry Aaron scored two and Cravens chipped in three.

Jim Lafferty led the Wildcats in the scoring column with 14-points and was followed by Wilkerson with eight.

Parma -- Cravens 12, White 6, Pulling 4, Wright 4.
Bloomfield -- Lafferty 14, Wilkerson 8, Bowling 2, Gains 2, and Kyle 1.

Score by Quarters:

Parma	5	6	13	2	6
Bl'field	10	9	6	1	2

Clay Arrives In Houston

HOUSTON AP -- Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay was arriving today, 10 days before he defends his title against Houston's Cleveland Williams in the first boxing match in the famed Astrodome.

Williams, training at his manager's ranch 125 miles southwest of here, is expected next Friday.

Clay 24, who prefers to be known as Muhammad Ali, will make his headquarters at the Hotel America and will resume training at a downtown gym 11 blocks from the hotel.

The unbeaten champion will be making his fifth title defense in the bout with Williams. His 26 victories include 21 knockouts.

Williams, 33, has a 65-6 record including 51 knockouts. Clay has declined to predict the outcome of the fight. Williams says he will win by a knockout.

Hawks Take 120-108 Defeat From Philadelphia

NEW YORK AP - Dick Van Arsdale held Rick Barry to two points - if you don't count his concession - and in so doing enabled the New York Knickerbockers to beat the San Francisco Warriors.

"You concede him 30 points and try to keep him from getting 50 or 60," Van Arsdale said Thursday night after spending most of a National Basketball Association game guarding Barry.

Barry, the NBA's Rookie of the Year last season and the current scoring leader, scored 32 points but was limited by Van Arsdale to just one in the third period when the Knicks outscored the Warriors 36-19 en route to a 123-108 victory.

The 6-foot-5 Van Arsdale, who draws the assignment of guarding the opposition's top-scoring forward, also finds time to play offense. He scored 25 points and had four assists.

In other NBA action, Boston beat Chicago 137-108 before the Knicks-Warriors game at Madison Square Garden, and Philadelphia topped St. Louis 120-108 in Pittsburgh.

Wilt Chamberlain scored only 14 points but grabbed 24 rebounds and blocked several shots as Philadelphia won its 17th straight regular season game and tied an NBA record. The first 11 victories in the string came at the end of last season.

Chet Walker made up for Chamberlain's lack of scoring by getting 36. Zelmo Beatty netted 32 for St. Louis.

Led by Larry Siegfried, Boston outscored Chicago 18-8 in the late stages of the first quarter for a 35-23 lead and the start of a rout.

Bailey Howell led Boston with 21 points. Guy Rodgers scored 16 for Chicago.

WELLINGTON, New Zealand AP -- U. S. officials say New Zealand is drastically short of American flags for President Johnson's visit.

Cloth flags are definitely out since New Zealand has a restriction on fabric imports and clothing factories are too busy.

Paper flags are out, too, because the government printing works is on strike.

Kennett, which is in fourth place in the northern conference, travels to Dexter in a non - conference tilt tonight. Although this game will not have any bearing on the conference standing of either team, their records are at stake.

The champion of the Southern conference will be determined this week as Hayti travels to Portageville. Both teams have a 4-1 record.

The Chaffee Red Devils are still looking for their first victim as they travel to Caruthersville. The Red Devils, who stand 0-5, take on the Tigers, who are sporting a 5-1 won - loss record. This game could possibly mean first place in the Southern conference for the Tigers.

In the final game for the night, the Cairo Pilots go to East Prairie for a non-conference game.

Sikeston and Malden are idle tonight. Sikeston is preparing for the game next Friday with Blytheville, and Malden is getting ready for the conference game next week with the Dexter Bearcats.

I am a legal secretary and the lawyer for whom I work handles many malpractice suits. One particular case involved hospital records, which I realized were highly embarrassing to him when he dictated the intimate medical terms and occasional four-letter words. He squirmed through the dictation, frequently apologizing for the phrases he had to use. Finished, he drew a sigh of relief. Then, noticing my equal look of relief, he looked at me with a mean glint in his eye and said, "Now, read that back to me."

Parma Edges Bloomfield

BLOOMFIELD -- Rebounding from an opening season defeat at the hands of the Matthews quintet the Parma Pirates took a 32-28 overtime victory over the host Wildcats yesterday.

Led by Carroll Cravens with 12 points, three coming in the overtime period, the Pirates fought from behind in each quarter, entering the fourth quarter trailing 25-24.

Allan White tied the game for the Pirates, the ball was in flight when the whistle went off and a goal was good for a 26-26 tie.

Parma, after trailing 10-5 the first quarter and 19-11 at the half, found its shooting eye and continued to whittle at the Wildcats' score.

Parma took the extra period tipoff, went down court and scored on Cravens' 18-foot jumper. White added one point in the extra period. Jerry Aaron scored two and Cravens chipped in three.

Jim Lafferty led the Wildcats in the scoring column with 14-points and was followed by Wilkerson with eight.

Parma -- Cravens 12, White 6, Pulling 4, Wright 4.

Bloomfield -- Lafferty 14, Wilkerson 8, Bowling 2, Gains 2, and Kyle 1.

Clay Arrives In Houston

HOUSTON AP -- Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay was arriving today, 10 days before he defends his title against Houston's Cleveland Williams in the first boxing match in the famed Astrodome.

Williams, training at his manager's ranch 125 miles southwest of here, is expected next Friday.

Clay 24, who prefers to be known as Muhammad Ali, will make his headquarters at the Hotel America and will resume training at a downtown gym 11 blocks from the hotel.

The unbeaten champion will be making his fifth title defense in the bout with Williams. His 26 victories include 21 knockouts.

Williams, 33, has a 65-6 record including 51 knockouts. Clay has declined to predict the outcome of the fight. Williams says he will win by a knockout.

Hawks Take 120-108 Defeat From Philadelphia

NEW YORK AP - Dick Van Arsdale held Rick Barry to two points - if you don't count his concession - and in so doing enabled the New York Knickerbockers to beat the San Francisco Warriors.

"You concede him 30 points and try to keep him from getting 50 or 60," Van Arsdale said Thursday night after spending most of a National Basketball Association game guarding Barry.

Barry, the NBA's Rookie of the Year last season and the current scoring leader, scored 32 points but was limited by Van Arsdale to just one in the third period when the Knicks outscored the Warriors 36-19 en route to a 123-108 victory.

The 6-foot-5 Van Arsdale, who draws the assignment of guarding the opposition's top-scoring forward, also finds time to play offense. He scored 25 points and had four assists.

In other NBA action, Boston beat Chicago 137-108 before the Knicks-Warriors game at Madison Square Garden, and Philadelphia topped St. Louis 120-108 in Pittsburgh.

Wilt Chamberlain scored only 14 points but grabbed 24 rebounds and blocked several shots as Philadelphia won its 17th straight regular season game and tied an NBA record. The first 11 victories in the string came at the end of last season.

Chet Walker made up for Chamberlain's lack of scoring by getting 36. Zelmo Beatty netted 32 for St. Louis.

Led by Larry Siegfried, Boston outscored Chicago 18-8 in the late stages of the first quarter for a 35-23 lead and the start of a rout.

Bailey Howell led Boston with 21 points. Guy Rodgers scored 16 for Chicago.

WELLINGTON, New Zealand AP -- U. S. officials say New Zealand is drastically short of American flags for President Johnson's visit.

Cloth flags are definitely out since New Zealand has a restriction on fabric imports and clothing factories are too busy.

Paper flags are out, too, because the government printing works is on strike.

Iowa Plows Into Spartans

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Now that Michigan State has used 500 shovels to dig Spartan Stadium out of the snow, Pitt and Iowa might like to use them to dig out of the mess they're headed for.

Hapless Pitt is headed for Notre Dame, the nation's top-ranked college football team, Saturday while almost-as-hapless Iowa plows into the snow-bound Spartans, the No. 2 team.

Before the unbeaten Spartans could go after their eighth victory, though, about a foot of snow had to be cleared from the field.

School officials gathered some 500 shovels, then called for volunteers from the student body to use them and help clear the snow away. The students started shoveling Thursday afternoon and worked through the night to get the field ready for the game.

Officials estimated that the snow removal job could cost $35,000.

A loss for either the Irish or the Spartans would be more expensive — from a prestige point of view — but their opponents aren't expected to inflict such damage.

No matter what Jim Lynch says. Lynch is a rugged Notre Dame linebacker and he was saying Thursday how the Irish weren't taking the Panthers lightly even though the Irish won last year's contest 69-13.

"Our players are taking Pittsburgh seriously," Lynch said.

In winning one game and losing six, the Panthers have been outscored on the average of 29-10.

At the same time the Irish, 6-0, have scored less than 30 points in only one game while posting three shutouts and limiting their opponents to a total of 28 points.

Iowa is in about the same amount of trouble. The Hawkeyes, 2-5, have been blanked three times while the Spartans have outscored their opponents 27-9.

Six other teams also will be out to continue their unbeaten streaks.

UCLA, ranked No. 3, visits Washington, fourth-ranked Alabama takes on Louisiana State at Birmingham, No. 5 Gorgia Tech hosts Virginia, sixth-ranked Nebraska is at Kansas, Florida, No. 7, battles Georgia at Jacksonville and unranked Harvard is at Princeton.

The Florida-Georgia battle could be the most interesting. Those two teams, along with Alabama, are tied for first place in the Southeastern Conference with 4-0 records.

Georgia's major problem, of course, is stopping Steve Spurrier, who wins games in the final minutes with his passing and his kicking.

Other games include Syracuse at Penn State, George Washington at Army, Duke at Navy, Illinois at Michigan, Purdue at Wisconsin, Indiana at Ohio State, Miami, Fla., at Tulane, Vanderbilt at Kentucky, Maryland at North Carolina State, Minnesota at Northwestern and North Carolina at Clemson.

Also on the schedule are Texas at Baylor, Tulsa at Houston, Colorado at Missouri, Kansas State at Oklahoma, Texas A&M at Southern Methodist, Wyoming at Wichita State, Air Force at Stanford, Rice and Arkansas at Little Rock, California at Southern California and Chattanooga at Tennessee.

NBA Charters A Course Of Expansion

PITTSBURGH AP - The National Basketball Association has charted a course of ambitious expansion, leading to an eventual 16-team league by 1974.

The plan was unveiled in Pittsburgh Thursday by Commissioner Walter Kennedy, who indicated that Pittsburgh and Cleveland are two of the leading contenders for the next two franchise.

He said the 10-team NBA wants to add two cities to its roster in 1968 -69 and four more soon after but by any means no later than 1974.

Six NBA games are being played in Pittsburgh this season as a test of fan sentiment and Kennedy was here to attend the first of them between the Philadelphia 76ers and the St. Louis Hawks.

A crowd of 6,924 turned out, not quite the SRO plus 3,000-turnaway that greeted a game between the same two clubs here last Feb. 15, but still not bad for early in the season.

Kennedy said that he and Ben Kerner, owner of the Hawks and chairman of the league's expansion committee, planned to visit Cleveland next week and would report to the other owners at the league's meeting Nov. 21 in New York.

He said that four other cities were high in the running -- Seattle, San Diego, Phoenix and Atlanta -- but did not say when league officials would visit them, nor did he set a definite date for awarding the franchises. But Kennedy did say he expected the next two cities to be named sometime around next summer.

Huskers Headed Toward Big Eight Conference Tittle

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—Nebraska's brawny and talented Huskers are in high gear, and headed for a fourth straight title in their growing Big Eight football dynasty. It's highly doubtful Kansas can stop them here Saturday.

A record Kansas crowd of about 47,000 is expected for the 54th Jayhawk Home-coming game. Kickoff is 1:30 p.m. cst.

The unbeaten Nebraska club, ranked No. 6 nationally, looked unbeatable in crushing Missouri 35-0 last week in a televised mismatch viewed by Sugar and Orange Bowl scouts. Cotton Bowl people will see this one.

Nebraska's defensive unit, which has permitted foes a scant 79.6 yards a game rushing, is headed by a trio of All America candidates — middle guard Wayne Meylan 239 tackle Carel Stith, 261, and safety Larry Wachholtz.

Veteran Bob Churchich, a skillful pressure passer, is the quarterback and no one in the Big Eight is better when you need a clutch pass. Ben Gregory, 219, Harry Wilson 212 and Pete Tatman, 220 are hard runners and vicious blockers. They broke tackles time and again last week.

"I never saw so many powerful running backs on one team," said Missouri coach Dan Devine.

Kansas has a capable defensive unit statistically No. 2 in the Big Eight behind Nebraska. But the Jayhawks have had serious quarterback problems for the second year in a row, because of Bob Skahan's misfortune.

Don Shanklin, a swift and tough 171-pounder, is the club's chief running threat with 1,124 yards in all categories, 636 of it rushing. The Jayhawks stand 2-4-1 for the year.

ANN LANDERS
Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: The letter from the woman who wrote about her sneaky husband prompts this, my first communication to a newspaper.

Several weeks ago my husband asked me if I would mind if a business associate from another city stayed in our home for a week "to save expenses."

I cannot describe my astonishment when I discovered that the "business associate" was a woman, and the only business they had together was monkey business.

For five days she sat around our house in her filmy negligee, filing her fingernails, smoking cigarets and reading trashy magazines. My husband took her to a "sales meeting" every night. They never got home before 3:00 A.M.

Finally I asked her what connection she had with my husband's firm and she told me she had no connection, but that she used their products once in a while. Then I asked what she was doing in town and she said she had always wanted to visit Cincinnati.

What do you think of this for gall? --- ANONYMOUS PLEASE

Dear An: I think her gall is exceeded only by your stupidity. If it took you five days to ask a guest in your home what she was doing in town, you are pretty slow on the uptake, Lady.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 17-year-old girl who wants to know how much loyalty a person owes a friend?

My closest girl friend (I will fake the name and call her Inez) asked me to spend Friday and Saturday night with her because her parents were going to the Cape for the weekend. My parents have always liked Inez and agreed that it would be O.K.

Friday evening we double dated. I went with a fellow I've been seeing a lot, but not steady and Inez dated a fellow she had just met three weeks ago. After the date (we went to a movie and then to eat) Inez asked both fellows to come in and listen to records. I didn't like the idea and told her that I was going to sleep and that my date had to say goodnight at the door.

Well, to make a long story short, Inez's boy friend stayed all night. When I discovered him there the next morning I told Inez I wasn't spending any more nights with her. We were not on good terms when I left.

My mother asked why I looked so unhappy when I got home and I told her Inez and I had had an argument. Mom accused me of being "hard to get along with" and suggested that I improve my disposition. If I had told Mom the truth Inez would have been in plenty of trouble. As it is I am the one who looks bad. How mich loyalty do I owe her? ---VICTIMIZED

Dear Vic: This is not a matter of loyalty, it's a matter of integrity. A person of character does not rat fink, and you proved that you are a person of character. So----an orchid to you, Doll, and a bouquet of skunk cabbage to Inez.

Confident To Where Did I Fail: You made the all too common mistake of grabbing bargain counter pleasure when you should have waited for a meaningful relationship to develop. Most of man's unhappiness results from having made the wrong choice. And this was your undoing.

Confidential To A Friend Who Got No Thanks: I don't call it friendship when you lend money at 25% interest. Obviously you would rather eat well than sleep well.

Awkward and self-conscious? Unsure of yourself? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key To Popularity," enclosing with your request 35¢ in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

54 In A Series To Acquaint You With The Churches In This Area

THIS WEEK SALUTING
First Baptist Church
Morehouse, Mo.

Glen D. Bohannon
PASTOR

The youth department, composed of 56 young people from ages 13 through 24, plays a vital role in the life of our church fellowship. Mrs. Bernice Bryant serves as superintendent with Bill and Jean Westerfield, Bob Taylor, and Mrs. Thelma Glover teaching the graded classes. Donna Bohannon, a junior in the local school, plays the piano.

The church has a renewed interest in the youth of the Morehouse community. Activities are planned in an effort to give the young folks christian fellowship and enjoyment.

Each year Study Course Books are taught along with well prepared Bible lessons in order to give a rounded understanding of christian principles. An intermediate girls auxillary, lead by Mrs. Jo Ann Bohannon, acquaints the girls with missionary work. Peggy Orr serves as the Associational stewardship chairman while Teresa Tarrants serves as song leader.

Bill and Jean Westerfield have been serving as counselors for several years and provide many christian experiences for the youth. A special training union class on Sunday night helps the youth to train for fuller church participation. Twice each month Bill and Jean accompany the young people to youth for Christ rallies which are conducted by the Charleston Baptist Association. One of our young ladies, Regina Jackson, serves as the new president. The first Sunday afternoon of each month will find several of the young people assisting their pastor at the nursing home service. Here they sing hymns, pray for, and visit among the patients.

The youth department would encourage all the young people to worship in church each Sunday. Jesus Christ can meet the need of any individual, young or adult.

ANN LANDERS
Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: The letter from the woman who wrote about her sneaky husband prompts this, my first communication to a newspaper.

Several weeks ago my husband asked me if I would mind if a business associate from another city stayed in our home for a week "to save expenses."

I cannot describe my astonishment when I discovered that the "business associate" was a woman, and the only business they had together was monkey business.

For five days she sat around our house in her filmy negligee, filing her fingernails, smoking cigarets and reading trashy magazines. My husband took her to a "sales meeting" every night. They never got home before 3:00 A.M.

Finally I asked her what connection she had with my husband's firm and she told me she had no connection, but that she used their products once in a while. Then I asked what she was doing in town and she said she had always wanted to visit Cincinnati.

What do you think of this for gall? --- ANONYMOUS PLEASE

Dear An: I think her gall is exceeded only by your stupidity. If it took you five days to ask a guest in your home what she was doing in town, you are pretty slow on the uptake, Lady.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 17-year-old girl who wants to know how much loyalty a person owes a friend?

My closest girl friend (I will fake the name and call her Inez) asked me to spend Friday and Saturday night with her because her parents were going to the Cape for the weekend. My parents have always liked Inez and agreed that it would be O.K.

Friday evening we double dated. I went with a fellow I've been seeing a lot, but not steady and Inez dated a fellow she had just met three weeks ago. After the date (we went to a movie and then to eat) Inez asked both fellows to come in and listen to records. I didn't like the idea and told her that I was going to sleep and that my date had to say goodnight at the door.

Well, to make a long story short, Inez's boy friend stayed all night. When I discovered him there the next morning I told Inez I wasn't spending any more nights with her. We were not on good terms when I left.

My mother asked why I looked so unhappy when I got home and I told her Inez and I had had an argument. Mom accused me of being "hard to get along with" and suggested that I improve my disposition. If I had told Mom the truth Inez would have been in plenty of trouble. As it is I am the one who looks bad. How mich loyalty do I owe her? ---VICTIMIZED

Dear Vic: This is not a matter of loyalty, it's a matter of integrity. A person of character does not rat fink, and you proved that you are a person of character. So----an orchid to you, Doll, and a bouquet of skunk cabbage to Inez.

Confident To Where Did I Fail: You made the all too common mistake of grabbing bargain counter pleasure when you should have waited for a meaningful relationship to develop. Most of man's unhappiness results from having made the wrong choice. And this was your undoing.

Confidential To A Friend Who Got No Thanks: I don't call it friendship when you lend money at 25% interest. Obviously you would rather eat well than sleep well.

Awkward and self-conscious? Unsure of yourself? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key To Popularity," enclosing with your request 35¢ in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

54 In A Series To Acquaint You With The Churches In This Area

THIS WEEK SALUTING
First Baptist Church
Morehouse, Mo.

Glen D. Bohannon
PASTOR

The youth department, composed of 56 young people from ages 13 through 24, plays a vital role in the life of our church fellowship. Mrs. Bernice Bryant serves as superintendent with Bill and Jean Westerfield, Bob Taylor, and Mrs. Thelma Glover teaching the graded classes. Donna Bohannon, a junior in the local school, plays the piano.

The church has a renewed interest in the youth of the Morehouse community. Activities are planned in an effort to give the young folks christian fellowship and enjoyment.

Each year Study Course Books are taught along with well prepared Bible lessons in order to give a rounded understanding of christian principles. An intermediate girls auxillary, lead by Mrs. Jo Ann Bohannon, acquaints the girls with missionary work. Peggy Orr serves as the Associational stewardship chairman while Teresa Tarrants serves as song leader.

Bill and Jean Westerfield have been serving as counselors for several years and provide many christian experiences for the youth. A special training union class on Sunday night helps the youth to train for fuller church participation. Twice each month Bill and Jean accompany the young people to youth for Christ rallies which are conducted by the Charleston Baptist Association. One of our young ladies, Regina Jackson, serves as the new president. The first Sunday afternoon of each month will find several of the young people assisting their pastor at the nursing home service. Here they sing hymns, pray for, and visit among the patients.

The youth department would encourage all the young people to worship in church each Sunday. Jesus Christ can meet the need of any individual, young or adult.

Students Should Strive For Personal Victories

WEBSTER defines "victory" as an overcoming or opposition of difficulty in any struggle, and life means countless victories over self.

Victory is personal. The feeling of success is one of self-satisfaction and pride that is incomparable to any other.

The high school student particularly searches for such fulfillment. Adults continually strive to teach youngsters that "it is not whether you win or lose that counts, but how you play the game."

However, this lesson is not always accepted in this highly competitive world. Truly, victory is not always winning; it may be losing--it is losing by less than the last time.

Some students (the lucky few) can gain high grades without studying--this should not be discouraging to the majority.

A person should be proud of any grade he makes--as long as he did his best.

People accept victory in many various ways. The victor should put his success to good use and continue to better himself.

Unfortunately, some people seem to take success as a personal banner to be displayed at every opportunity.

High school students should strive for their success as a stepping stone to personal betterment.

--Connie Nowell

Students Neglect Courtesy, Respect For Other Fellow

"CHIVALRY IS DEAD!" Yes, and courtesy, respect for others, and desire to improve are on the way out, too. This is not an unfounded criticism made by a disapproving adult, but an observation made by many of Sikeston's students.

How many boys have ever relinquished a choice seat in the lounge for a girl who was standing? The situation has become so grave by now that even beauty is no guarantee of anything better than somebody's "bony knee."

It has become extremely hazardous to attempt to eat lunch, unless one is inherently agile (to avoid trampling), fast (to avoid being trampled), and inconspicuous (to avoid being apprehended while running around and over less fast and agile persons).

Seriously, though, the point is that we have forgotten, or at least neglected, the rules of courtesy that make life and social living bearable.

Unusual as it may seem, some people actually fear ridicule, from fellow students, stemming from a courteous action. Courtesy has become "square"!

Without advocating an all-out intensive crusade, the Barker staff reminds all persons to become more conscious of their personal actions. It is really quite easy to hold open a door for a book-laden girl, pick up somebody's dropped book, or replace books knocked from a table in the lounge.

Some people have even been known to gain a degree of satisfaction from the performance of these simple actions ---- and from them we all gain something.

--Steve Spear.

Cheerleaders Name Three As 'Outstanding' Peppers

Three Red Pepper girls named "outstanding" at the Jackson football game Friday night were senior Patti McMullin, junior Gena Nunnelee, and sophomore Kay Stauffer.

Patti McMullin

Gena Nunnelee

Kay Stauffer

"Outstanding" Red Peppers were selected on three main points--dedication, spirit, and good sportsmanship.

Patti, Gena, and Kay each displayed these points at the game at Jackson last week. They were consistent with their "yelling" and showed extraordinary school spirit.

Sikeston Bulldogs do not play a football game tonight; they have only one remaining game left for the season, and that will be with Blytheville.

Basketball season will begin soon for the Sikeston Bulldogs.

SHS Students Heard On Local Radio Stations

Student council and the journalism staff of Sikeston high school sponsor two radio programs on Friday afternoon.

Both programs are broadcast over the local stations at 4:30 on Friday.

"Teen Time" as heard over station KMPL is a 30-minute program, narrated by Don Fennimore. Teen-agers engage in informal conversation during the session and choose from the "Top 15 Hits" one selection that they would like to hear.

Students are requested to discuss the school news, activities, and personal future plans.

Sally Faulkner, Sheila Topp, Dave Stallings, and Danny Lopp will participate in the program today.

Work for this project begins Thursday afternoon when the staffer records his 10-minute program for Friday.

News published weekly in the Bulldog Barker is condensed and highlighted for the news broadcast.

Steve Spear and Judy Murchison have appeared on the program in previous weeks.

Connie Nowell will be the discussion leader today, and Bill Marsh will be featured next week.

Only SHS students have been spotlighted on the "Teen Time" program, but students from the surrounding area schools will appear on this program in the future.

Nine Twirlers Form 'Line' For Season

During each summer vacation, director Keith Collins of the "marching Bulldogs" selects the girls who are to be the twirlers for the coming marching season.

Each girl works up a routine and performs it on the day of tryouts for the various positions.

Nine-member twirling line marched at each home football game and also with the band at the Jackson game last week.

Twirlers led the band in the annual cotton carnival parade through the streets of downtown Sikeston in September.

Several of the girls performed a special routine of twirling exhibition for the fans at the football games.

Most of the girls took twirling lessons for a number of years, and many of them now give lessons to younger girls who have ambitions to become a twirler.

Twirling in the freshman band was a part of the preparation to become a twirler in the high school band for more than half of the girls.

Guess Who?

"Guess Who" features a senior boy this week. He resides at 537 Moore Street and attends the First Methodist Church in Sikeston.

He is a member of both the marching and the concert band. Upon graduation in '67, he plans to attend Southeast Missouri State College and major in liberal arts.

He also has a sister who is a junior, and she attends Sikeston high school.

The answer to last week's "Guess Who" is senior Fred Matthews.

Photographer Snaps Photos For Growler

M. Hixon, C. Jones Sikeston Candidates In Royalty Contest

Pictures of those persons in Sikeston high school who were missed when the Growler pictures were snapped in September were made Tuesday.

Twenty-five juniors and twenty-six sophomores do not have photos for the yearbook. Several of the faculty did not have pictures made when the photographer was at school.

Dave Baldwin, Jr., of Springfield snapped these retakes of students and faculty who were missed the first time.

Senior pictures should be ready soon -- the graduates have their pictures snapped by a local photographer, and these are used in the yearbook.

"Each senior homeroom has a candidate for both positions, and the race is close," said editor Connie Nowell.

Charlotte Jones and Mike Hixon represent homeroom 12-E and their photos are printed this week.

The lucky "senior couple" who are chosen will be featured with a full-page of each in the '67 Growler.

Growler staff will make a shipment to the Paragon Press, the publisher, in December. Junior and sophomore pages will be sent at that time.

Crowning of the royalty will take place Tuesday, Nov. 22, at a special assembly.

Sikeston High School To Observe Nov. 6–12 As American Ed. Week

"Education Adds Up" is the theme of the American Education Week to be observed, November 6-12, in the Sikeston public schools.

Posted along the busy highways of Missouri for passing motorists to view are the colorful outdoor posters, "Education Adds Up."

Making the American citizens aware of the importance and the necessity of education is the fundamental purpose of American Education Week.

The theme of the week is designed to impress upon the citizens the intrinsic value of adequate education for the preservation of liberties and the survival of democracy.

Another important value of this campaign is to assit in preparing the legislative climate for any special or regular session of th legislature where improvements in the school foundation must find support.

Green Peppers Official Members At Annual Tea

Green peppers became official members of the Red Pepper organization Tuesday night. One hundred and eight girls were inducted into the organization at the annual Red Pepper tea in the Sikeston high school cafetorium.

Sikeston Forensic League Holds Number One Position

National Forensic League of Sikeston public school is "number one" in the nation with the largest number of students belonging to the organization.

This position has been maintained for approximately 10 years in the Sikeston schools, and the membership consists of about 150 members this year.

TONI ZARICOR was selected "outstanding senior girl" for October by the Business and Professional Women's Club.

One hundred and seven freshmen have been added to the roll of members this fall.

Sophomore, junior, and senior students have also joined the group.

Purpose of the National Forensic League is to give students an opportunity to participate in extra-curricular speech activities.

First National Forensic League in Sikeston was organized in 1940.

Mrs. Bill Huff, mother of Greer, and the Rev. C. D. Butler, father of Phil, were two of the charter members of the organization, and they still maintain their membership.

Mr. Walker has the pin with three diamonds which is the highest ever reached by a sponsor of the forensic group.

The National League was founded in 1920, and only five persons in the nation have received this pin.

Sikeston high school will host a beginners' discussion and impromptu meet Wednesday afternoon. Freshmen, sophomores, and beginning juniors and seniors will participate in this event.

Junior and senior students who are experienced debaters will serve as discussion leaders.

Fourteen schools from the surrounding area will take part in this meet.

At the club's October meeting, Miss Almaretta Sidwell, member of the committee, presented Toni with a silver charm denoting the honor.

She was a guest of the Business and Professional Women's Club at the October meeting.

Toni is a member of the band, National Forensic League, and she is Cayenne of the Red Peppers. She was also a candidate for "Miss Midtowner" in the recent contest.

Senior Elizabeth Martin received the honor for the month of September.

Library Has Book Display For Students

National Book Week for the Sikeston high school library ends today, closing an exhibit of books for high school students in progress since Monday morning.

Junior Becky Stallings, who won the honor of choosing a record album and book for the library, checked out the 150,000th volume from the shelves.

Four hundred and thirty-one books were displayed and reviewed by visiting adults, teachers, and students in Sikeston. Library has been open at various hours during the past school week for classes to enter and each students make his choices. Librarian Frederick W. Huff has been busy recording and processing indicated selections.

Persons visiting the library have had an opportunity to select literature, choosing from a wide variety of fiction, sports, science, and general information.

To select a particular book, a person first signs his name in a catalogue presented to him, and then circles the number in his catalogue of the title. Consecutive numbers on covers of books and in catalogues provide rapid identification and location of any title or subject.

The great increase in volume and variety of Sikeston's high school library is due largely to the exhibitions held each year.

"Students are urged to take an active party in the selection of fine literature on display," said librarian Huff.

Mr. Huff estimates that between two hundred fifty and three hundred books will be ordered, and the great majority of books with any votes will certainly be ordered.

This organized book collection, representing 65 leading publishers, was supplied by Books on Exhibit of Mount Kisco, New York, a nationally recognized book exhibiting service.

Tolliver Sings For Quartet, Concert Choir

This week's featured student is tall, dark-haired Roger Tolliver, of 203 Bynum in Sikeston. Roger works at the Marks and Stearnes Food Mart after school, every afternoon except Thursday and Sunday.

One of the more musically inclined students in Sikeston high, his activities range from first tenor in the concert choir to one of the highly successful gospel quartet, which brings in much added and, of course, very welcome, income.

Tuesday evening Roger sang for the Red Peppers tea, accompanied by Steve Spear and Carroll Couch, who played the guitar and electric bass, respectvely.

Roger's impressive vocal range was displayed as he sang "Michelle," "This Boy (Ringo's Theme)"; and "Yesterday."

Roger owns a '55 Chevrolet.

His gospel quartet was interviewed by a gospel singing promoter, and the group made several audition tape recordings.

This group has received no definite confirmation at this writing, but hopes are high that the boys might be one of those groups chosen to travel overseas and entertain troops.

The popularity of Roger's talent is evident, as he often is asked to perform for homerooms and provide entertainment for social functions.

Very impartial in his tastes for music, Roger nevertheless dislikes country music and opera.

His favorite type of music is, naturally, popular work.

Students Should Strive For Personal Victories

WEBSTER defines "victory" as an overcoming or opposition of difficulty in any struggle, and life means countless victories over self.

Victory is personal. The feeling of success is one of self-satisfaction and pride that is incomparable to any other.

The high school student particularly searches for such fulfillment. Adults continually strive to teach youngsters that "it is not whether you win or lose that counts, but how you play the game."

However, this lesson is not always accepted in this highly competitive world. Truly, victory is not always winning; it may be losing--it is losing by less than the last time.

Some students (the lucky few) can gain high grades without studying--this should not be discouraging to the majority.

A person should be proud of any grade he makes--as long as he did his best.

People accept victory in many various ways. The victor should put his success to good use and continue to better himself.

Unfortunately, some people seem to take success as a personal banner to be displayed at every opportunity.

High school students should strive for their success as a stepping stone to personal betterment.

Students Neglect Courtesy, Respect For Other Fellow

"CHIVALRY IS DEAD!" Yes, and courtesy, respect for others, and desire to improve are on the way out, too. This is not an unfounded criticism made by a disapproving adult, but an observation made by many of Sikeston's students.

How many boys have ever relinquished a choice seat in the lounge for a girl who was standing? The situation has become so grave by now that even beauty is no guarantee of anything better than somebody's "bony knee."

It has become extremely hazardous to attempt to eat lunch, unless one is inherently agile (to avoid trampling), fast (to avoid being trampled), and inconspicuous (to avoid being apprehended while running around and over less fast and agile persons).

Seriously, though, the point is that we have forgotten, or at least neglected, the rules of courtesy that make life and social living bearable.

Unusual as it may seem, some people actually fear ridicule, from fellow students, stemming from a courteous action. Courtesy has become "square"!

Without advocating an all-out intensive crusade, the Barker staff reminds all persons to become more conscious of their personal actions. It is really quite easy to hold open a door for a book-laden girl, pick up somebody's dropped book, or replace books knocked from a table in the lounge.

Some people have even been known to gain a degree of satisfaction from the performance of these simple actions ---- and from them we all gain something.

--Steve Spear.

Cheerleaders Name Three As 'Outstanding' Peppers

Three Red Pepper girls named "outstanding" at the Jackson football game Friday night were senior Patti McMullin, junior Gena Nunnelee, and sophomore Kay Stauffer.

Patti McMullin

Gena Nunnelee

Kay Stauffer

"Outstanding" Red Peppers were selected on three main points--dedication, spirit, and good sportsmanship.

Patti, Gena, and Kay each displayed these points at the game at Jackson last week. They were consistent with their "yelling" and showed extraordinary school spirit.

Sikeston Bulldogs do not play a football game tonight; they have only one remaining game left for the season, and that will be with Blytheville.

Basketball season will begin soon for the Sikeston Bulldogs.

Nine Twirlers Form 'Line' For Season

During each summer vacation, director Keith Collins of the "marching Bulldogs" selects the girls who are to be the twirlers for the coming marching season.

Each girl works up a routine and performs it on the day of tryouts for the various positions.

Several of the girls performed a special routine of twirling exhibition for the fans at the football games.

Most of the girls took twirling lessons for a number of years, and many of them now give lessons to younger girls who have ambitions to become a twirler.

Twirling in the freshman band was a part of the preparation to become a twirler in the high school band for more than half of the girls.

SHS Students Heard On Local Radio Stations

Student council and the journalism staff of Sikeston high school sponsor two radio programs on Friday afternoon.

Both programs are broadcast over the local stations at 4:30 on Friday.

"Teen Time" as heard over station KMPL is a 30-minute program, narrated by Don Fennimore. Teen-agers engage in informal conversation during the session and choose from the "Top 15 Hits" one selection that they would like to hear.

Students are requested to discuss the school news, activities, and personal future plans.

Sally Faulkner, Sheila Topp, Dave Stallings, and Danny Lopp will participate in the program today.

Work for this project begins Thursday afternoon when the staffer records his 10-minute program for Friday.

News published weekly in the Bulldog Barker is condensed and highlighted for the news broadcast.

Steve Spear and Judy Murchison have appeared on the program in previous weeks.

Connie Nowell will be the discussion leader today, and Bill Marsh will be featured next week.

Only SHS students have been spotlighted on the "Teen Time" program, but students from the surrounding area schools will appear on this program in the future.

Guess Who?

"Guess Who" features a senior boy this week. He resides at 537 Moore Street and attends the First Methodist Church in Sikeston.

He is a member of both the marching and the concert band. Upon graduation in '67, he plans to attend Southeast Missouri State College and major in liberal arts.

He also has a sister who is a junior, and she attends Sikeston high school.

The answer to last week's "Guess Who" is senior Fred Matthews.

Photographer Snaps Photos For Growler

M. Hixon, C. Jones Sikeston Candidates In Royalty Contest

Pictures of those persons in Sikeston high school who were missed when the Growler pictures were snapped in September were made Tuesday.

Twenty-five juniors and twenty-six sophomores do not have photos for the yearbook. Several of the faculty did not have pictures made when the photographer was at school.

Dave Baldwin, Jr., of Springfield snapped these retakes of students and faculty who were missed the first time.

Senior pictures should be ready soon -- the graduates have their pictures snapped by a local photographer, and these are used in the yearbook.

"Each senior homeroom has a candidate for both positions, and the race is close," said editor Connie Nowell.

Charlotte Jones and Mike Hixon represent homeroom 12-E and their photos are printed this week.

The lucky "senior couple" who are chosen will be featured with a full-page of each in the '67 Growler.

Growler staff will make a shipment to the Paragon Press, the publisher, in December. Junior and sophomore pages will be sent at that time.

Crowning of the royalty will take place Tuesday, Nov. 22, at a special assembly.

Sikeston High School To Observe Nov. 6–12 As American Ed. Week

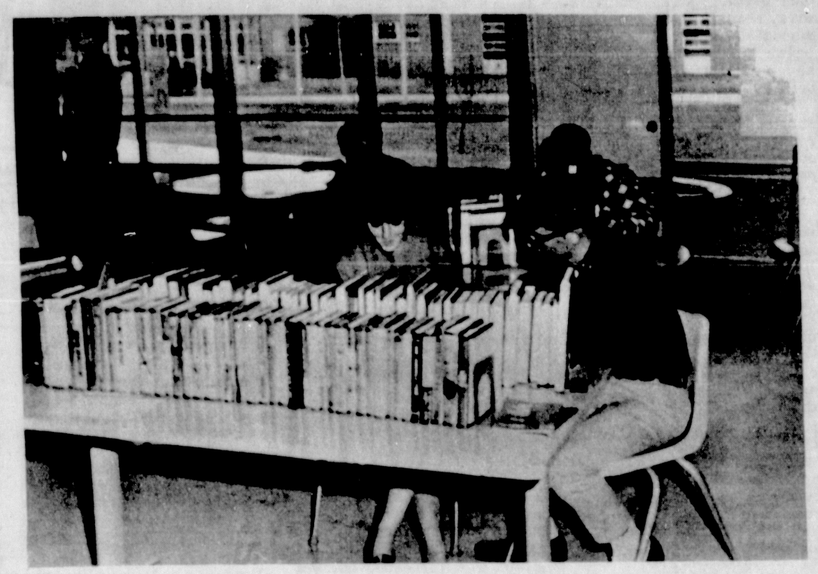

"Education Adds Up" is the theme of the American Education Week to be observed, November 6-12, in the Sikeston public schools.

Posted along the busy highways of Missouri for passing motorists to view are the colorful outdoor posters, "Education Adds Up."

Making the American citizens aware of the importance and the necessity of education is the fundamental purpose of American Education Week.

The theme of the week is designed to impress upon the citizens the intrinsic value of adequate education for the preservation of liberties and the survival of democracy.

Another important value of this campaign is to assit in preparing the legislative climate for any special or regular session of th legislature where improvements in the school foundation must find support.

Open Weather to Be Harvest Boon

PORTAGEVILLE, Mo. -- Near normal temperatures and light precipitation are predicted for the Missouri Bootheel during November.

Airflow across the nation will be predominantly west to east bringing high pressure systems inland from the Pacific ocean across the Rockies and central Missouri valley.

Most low pressures centers will form well out of range of the Bootheel so that wet weather will generally come as showers of rain and occasional snow as cold fronts move through.

Normal November rainfall for the Bootheel climatic division is 3.79 inches. Normals for cities:

Caruthersville 3.87 inches, Fish 3.78 inches, New Madrid 4.28 inches, Poplar Bluff 3.78 inches, Dexter 3.87 inches, Morehouse 4.06 inches, Parma 4.16 inches and Sikeston 4.18 inches.

Short term averages for other Bootheel cities:

Portageville 4.17 inches, Malden 4.11 inches, Kennett 4.44 inches and Charleston 4.50 inches.

With below normal precipitations expected totals of two to three inches are more likely. With gradually lowering sun angle and shortened day length, energy for evaporation is measurably reduced during November. Normally 2½ inches more precipitation than evaporation is measured. Excesses should be lower by an inch or more this year, reducing soil storage and reducing chances for returning recently dried soils to the unmanageable category.

Farmers will be taking advantage of open weather for completion of cotton and soybean harvest. Excellent drying conditions will be found in the airflow following cold fronts. Windy conditions, which prevent early formation of dew and slow rise in relative humidity in the evening, will provide long harvest days lasting several hours past dark.

In a normal November temperatures average about 48 degrees. This is a significant drop from October when the normal is 61. Even with near normal readings this November, not much cotton will mature.

Freezes usually occur early in the month and will help open bolls as well as initiate leaf drop, where defoliants were only partially successful. However, several past years with normal temperatures have shown that readings as low as 25 have not occurred until the last week of the month.

The five - day outlook and shorter range forecast are good keys to the type of weather pattern which may be expected.

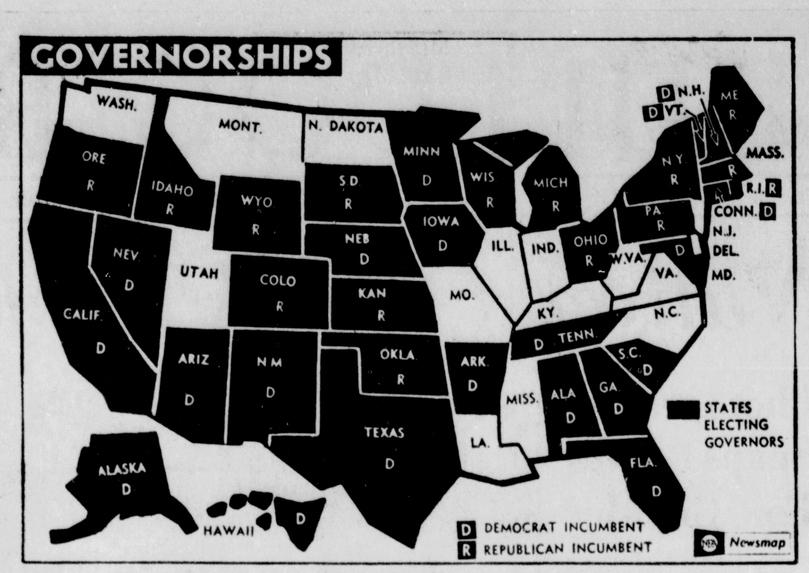

Wet weather usually occurs on eight to 10 days of the month. With light precipitation indicated showers can be expected to occur less frequently. Unfortunately, almost any measurable rain this time of year causes delay in harvest activity. Cotton and beans recover rapidly in cool, dry air commonly found over the region in the late fall.

Winds usually are more brisk in this part of the season, accelerating the drying process. On the other hand, this requires more concern with scheduling applications of lime on land being prepared for next season.

Leaf burning is likely to be a popular outdoor activity this month. The best time is during the day when vertical air currents will take smoke well up out of the way and minimize smoke pollution at ground level, or just above, near sunset prevents the rise of smoke and the air becomes polluted with irritants. Again, however, be aware of the wind so that burning leaves do not create a fire hazard. Daily weather forecasts include wind speed.

For those who keep an account of monthly precipitation, the following amounts were measured in October:

Poplar Bluff 2.59 inches, Sikeston 1.23 inches, Charleston 1.57 inches, Caruthersville 2.04 inches, Portageville 2.21 inches, Malden 2.74 inches, Kennett 2.11 inches, Cairo, 2.32 inches.

All but 15 of the 50 states elect governors Nov. 8. Of the 35 governorships at stake, 20 are now held by Democrats and 15 by Republicans.

Matthews FHA Celebrates Anniverary

MATTHEWS -- The 20th anniversary of the inception of the Future Homemakers of America at Matthews R-5 school was observed Friday evening when the local chapter entertained with a mother-daughter banquet in the cafeteria. About 125 members, mothers, high school faculty, and personnel and spouses enjoyed the barbecued chicken dinner with all the trimmings. Members of the FFA served as waiters. The gay and colorful room and table decorations, which carried out the fall harvest theme, added to the festiveness of the occasion.

FHA president, Jeanice Griffin, opened the meeting, presented a red rose corsage to their advisor, Mrs. Bernice Rogers, and introduced PTA president, Frank Allen Stanley, who gave the welcome. The invocation was given by Sharon Huffstutler.

A relaxer, "The Candy Store," which starred Rita Burch, was enjoyed by all the guests.

Entertainment in the form of a skit, "Mother Goose Story," was presented by Mrs. June Platt and Mrs. Betty Clifford of Jackson. The ladies, who are members of the Cape Girardeau County Hairdressers Association, won first place with their skit at the state hairdressers meeting at Jefferson City and a trip to the national hairdressers meeting at Dallas, Tex., last year. Mrs. Platt, beautifully attired as Mother Goose, wheeled a cart onto the stage which held a huge and handsomely illustrated book of MOTHER GOOSE. As she turned the pages, Mrs. Clifford read original parodies to the familiar rhymes which pertained to the wonders and natural resources of the state of Missouri. All in the audience were impressed with the cleverness and originality combined in using a nationally known theme to create a skit with such a wide scope of interest.

Each FHA member introduced her mother as she responded to roll call by secretary, Barbara Rogers. Scrapbooks, with clippings and pictures, for the past 20 years were on display. Many of the mothers enjoyed reminiscing as they leafed through the pages which chronicled the activities of their high school days. Honorary membership was conferred upon Supt. Lester M. King, and other faculty members and personnel were thanked for their assistance in carrying out the activities of the organization. Miss Griffin presided at the closing ceremony.

The volunteer firemen, Community Club members and their families enjoyed a pot-luck supper and Halloween party at the community center Saturday evening.

Five-year-olds, Regina Burch and David Andres, entertained 42 of their friends with a masquerade Halloween party last Friday night. Their mothers, Mrs. Robert Burch and Mrs. Charles Andres, had gaily decorated the community center in the Halloween theme for the occasion. Costumes were judged, prizes awarded, games were enjoyed, and refreshments of cupcakes and punch were enjoyed by the young guests.

The Matthews Community Club met at the community center Wednesday evening, Oct. 26. "The Family Life Cycle" was the lesson on human relations led by Mrs. William Depro and Mrs. B. B. Conrad. Members were supplied with charts showing the eight stages and approximate length of time in the family life cycle. As the leaders pointed out the tasks of the married couple in each phase of the cycle they referred to a large poster having pictures of the beginning family (no children); childbearing family (oldest child--from birth to 30 months); families with preschool children (30 months to 6 years); families with school children (6 to 13 years); families with teenagers (13 to 20 years); families as launching centers (first child gone to last child leaving home); families in the middle years (empty nest to retirement) and aging families (retirement to death of both spouses). Copies of a comparison of today's families with those of the past and characteristics of today's families were provided each member. A game called family cycle bingo concluded the lesson.

Mrs. Tom Moore and Mrs. Lloyd Eby gave a demonstration on antiquing artificial flowers. Several members brought flowers which they processed in the material provided for the demonstration.

Mrs. Charles G. Lindley presided during the business session. The executive committee was instructed to provide rules and regulations pertaining to use of the community center. A committee was appointed to present a slate of officers for the coming year at the November meeting.

Delicious pumpkin, apple, or chess pie a-la-mode was served with coffee by the hostesses, Mrs. C. O. Hawkins, Mrs. George Proffer, and Mrs. Bill Hawkins.

Highway Employes Meet in Cape

A meeting of the state highway department district 10 chapter of the Employes' association and the division 10 Highway Employes' Credit Union was held Sept. 30 at the Arena Park in Cape Girardeau.

R. N. Hunter, assistant to the chief engineer, represented M. J. Snider and spoke to the employes.

Other visitors included state officers of the association and the insurance agent in the area.

Roy Fletcher, formerly with surveys and plans, has been promoted and transferred to maintenance as district maintenance clerk.

Julian Sanders of Steeler has been promoted to highway maintenance foreman.

James Sifford and Hoyt Kyle, both in Right of Way, have been promoted to appraisers.

Recent employes included Terry James, construction rodman; and Allen Baker, Donald Hennemann, Joseph Shirley and Donnie Smith, all survey rodmen.

The POWER of FAITH

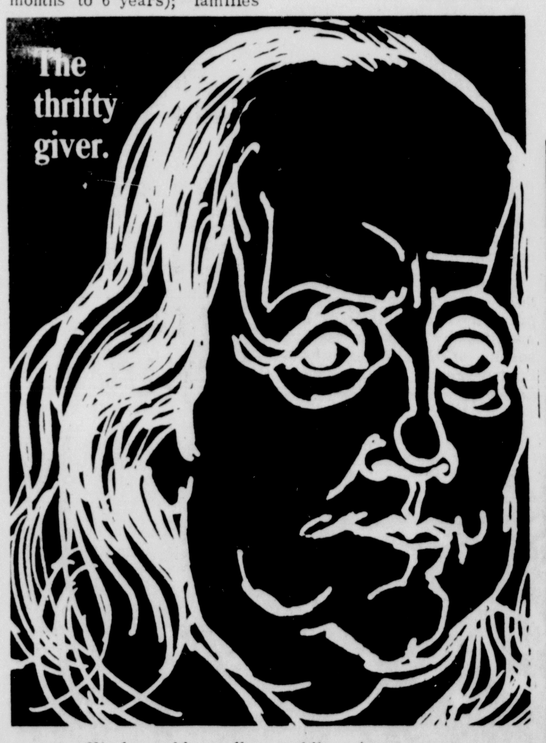

By WOODI ISHMAEL

In his paintings Fra Angelico has expressed his faith for all to see for the past 500 years. Of all the Italian Renaissance painters Fra Angelico was truly divinely inspired. In his lifetime churches and cathedrals vied for his works. He gave his pictures of the life of Christ and other religious paintings a fresh beauty and new meaning.

Very little is known of Fra Angelico's origin. His Christian name was Guido and he was also known as Fra Giovanni of Fiesole. He was 20 when he received the habit of the Dominican order. The name Fra Angelico (meaning angelic) was given him because of his devout piety. It has been told that he never picked up a brush until he had prayed for guidance. He believed that God guided his brush. He knelt as he painted the Madonna and wept each time he painted the crucifixion. For over a hundred years the accepted image of an angel has been that of one of Fra Angelico's. Both in his gentle life and in his art he has given us a rich spiritual heritage.

We know him well as a philosopher, statesman, man of letters, kite-flyer, but barely as a fund raiser. Yet Ben Franklin personally planned, organized and solicited for many early Philadelphia projects. What his funds founded include America's first free library, a church, a hospital—and the University of Pennsylvania.

Franklin gave of himself and his wealth to help build American higher education.

Open Weather to Be Harvest Boon

PORTAGEVILLE, Mo. -- Near normal temperatures and light precipitation are predicted for the Missouri Bootheel during November.

Airflow across the nation will be predominantly west to east bringing high pressure systems inland from the Pacific ocean across the Rockies and central Missouri valley.

Most low pressures centers will form well out of range of the Bootheel so that wet weather will generally come as showers of rain and occasional snow as cold fronts move through.

Normal November rainfall for the Bootheel climatic division is 3.79 inches. Normals for cities:

Caruthersville 3.87 inches, Fish 3.78 inches, New Madrid 4.28 inches, Poplar Bluff 3.78 inches, Dexter 3.87 inches, Morehouse 4.06 inches, Parma 4.16 inches and Sikeston 4.18 inches.

Short term averages for other Bootheel cities:

Portageville 4.17 inches, Malden 4.11 inches, Kennett 4.44 inches and Charleston 4.50 inches.

With below normal precipitations expected totals of two to three inches are more likely. With gradually lowering sun angle and shortened day length, energy for evaporation is measurably reduced during November. Normally 2½ inches more precipitation than evaporation is measured. Excesses should be lower by an inch or more this year, reducing soil storage and reducing chances for returning recently dried soils to the unmanageable category.

Farmers will be taking advantage of open weather for completion of cotton and soybean harvest. Excellent drying conditions will be found in the airflow following cold fronts. Windy conditions, which prevent early formation of dew and slow rise in relative humidity in the evening, will provide long harvest days lasting several hours past dark.

In a normal November temperatures average about 48 degrees. This is a significant drop from October when the normal is 61. Even with near normal readings this November, not much cotton will mature.

Freezes usually occur early in the month and will help open bolls as well as initiate leaf drop, where defoliants were only partially successful. However, several past years with normal temperatures have shown that readings as low as 25 have not occurred until the last week of the month.

The five - day outlook and shorter range forecast are good keys to the type of weather pattern which may be expected.

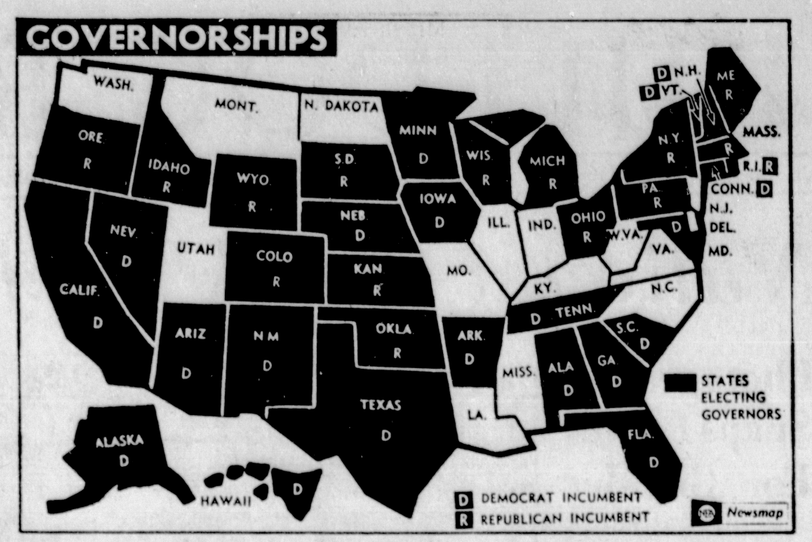

Wet weather usually occurs on eight to 10 days of the month. With light precipitation indicated showers can be expected to occur less frequently. Unfortunately, almost any measurable rain this time of year causes delay in harvest activity. Cotton and beans recover rapidly in cool, dry air commonly found over the region in the late fall.

Winds usually are more brisk in this part of the season, accelerating the drying process. On the other hand, this requires more concern with scheduling applications of lime on land being prepared for next season.

Leaf burning is likely to be a popular outdoor activity this month. The best time is during the day when vertical air currents will take smoke well up out of the way and minimize smoke pollution at ground level, or just above, near sunset prevents the rise of smoke and the air becomes polluted with irritants. Again, however, be aware of the wind so that burning leaves do not create a fire hazard. Daily weather forecasts include wind speed.

For those who keep an account of monthly precipitation, the following amounts were measured in October:

Poplar Bluff 2.59 inches, Sikeston 1.23 inches, Charleston 1.57 inches, Caruthersville 2.04 inches, Portageville 2.21 inches, Malden 2.74 inches, Kennett 2.11 inches, Cairo, 2.32 inches.

All but 15 of the 50 states elect governors Nov. 8. Of the 35 governorships at stake, 20 are now held by Democrats and 15 by Republicans.

Matthews FHA Celebrates Anniverary

MATTHEWS -- The 20th anniversary of the inception of the Future Homemakers of America at Matthews R-5 school was observed Friday evening when the local chapter entertained with a mother-daughter banquet in the cafeteria. About 125 members, mothers, high school faculty, and personnel and spouses enjoyed the barbecued chicken dinner with all the trimmings. Members of the FFA served as waiters. The gay and colorful room and table decorations, which carried out the fall harvest theme, added to the festiveness of the occasion.

FHA president, Jeanice Griffin, opened the meeting, presented a red rose corsage to their advisor, Mrs. Bernice Rogers, and introduced PTA president, Frank Allen Stanley, who gave the welcome. The invocation was given by Sharon Huffstutler.

A relaxer, "The Candy Store," which starred Rita Burch, was enjoyed by all the guests.

Entertainment in the form of a skit, "Mother Goose Story," was presented by Mrs. June Platt and Mrs. Betty Clifford of Jackson. The ladies, who are members of the Cape Girardeau County Hairdressers Association, won first place with their skit at the state hairdressers meeting at Jefferson City and a trip to the national hairdressers meeting at Dallas, Tex., last year. Mrs. Platt, beautifully attired as Mother Goose, wheeled a cart onto the stage which held a huge and handsomely illustrated book of MOTHER GOOSE. As she turned the pages, Mrs. Clifford read original parodies to the familiar rhymes which pertained to the wonders and natural resources of the state of Missouri. All in the audience were impressed with the cleverness and originality combined in using a nationally known theme to create a skit with such a wide scope of interest.

Each FHA member introduced her mother as she responded to roll call by secretary, Barbara Rogers. Scrapbooks, with clippings and pictures, for the past 20 years were on display. Many of the mothers enjoyed reminiscing as they leafed through the pages which chronicled the activities of their high school days. Honorary membership was conferred upon Supt. Lester M. King, and other faculty members and personnel were thanked for their assistance in carrying out the activities of the organization. Miss Griffin presided at the closing ceremony.

The volunteer firemen, Community Club members and their families enjoyed a pot-luck supper and Halloween party at the community center Saturday evening.

Five-year-olds, Regina Burch and David Andres, entertained 42 of their friends with a masquerade Halloween party last Friday night. Their mothers, Mrs. Robert Burch and Mrs. Charles Andres, had gaily decorated the community center in the Halloween theme for the occasion. Costumes were judged, prizes awarded, games were enjoyed, and refreshments of cupcakes and punch were enjoyed by the young guests.

The Matthews Community Club met at the community center Wednesday evening, Oct. 26. "The Family Life Cycle" was the lesson on human relations led by Mrs. William Depro and Mrs. B. B. Conrad. Members were supplied with charts showing the eight stages and approximate length of time in the family life cycle. As the leaders pointed out the tasks of the married couple in each phase of the cycle they referred to a large poster having pictures of the beginning family (no children); childbearing family (oldest child--from birth to 30 months); families with preschool children (30 months to 6 years); families with school children (6 to 13 years); families with teenagers (13 to 20 years); families as launching centers (first child gone to last child leaving home); families in the middle years (empty nest to retirement) and aging families (retirement to death of both spouses). Copies of a comparison of today's families with those of the past and characteristics of today's families were provided each member. A game called family cycle bingo concluded the lesson.

Mrs. Tom Moore and Mrs. Lloyd Eby gave a demonstration on antiquing artificial flowers. Several members brought flowers which they processed in the material provided for the demonstration.

Mrs. Charles G. Lindley presided during the business session. The executive committee was instructed to provide rules and regulations pertaining to use of the community center. A committee was appointed to present a slate of officers for the coming year at the November meeting.

Delicious pumpkin, apple, or chess pie a-la-mode was served with coffee by the hostesses, Mrs. C. O. Hawkins, Mrs. George Proffer, and Mrs. Bill Hawkins.

Other visitors included state officers of the association and the insurance agent in the area.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY

The POWER of FAITH

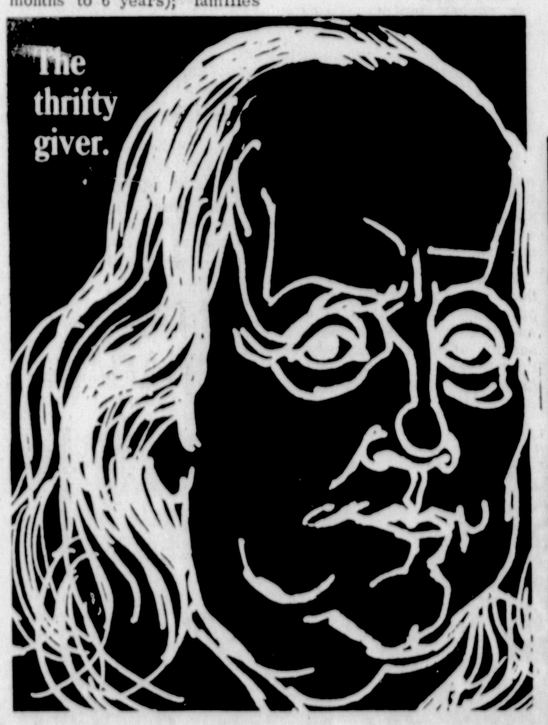

By WOODI ISHMAEL

In his paintings Fra Angelico has expressed his faith for all to see for the past 500 years. Of all the Italian Renaissance painters Fra Angelico was truly divinely inspired. In his lifetime churches and cathedrals vied for his works. He gave his pictures of the life of Christ and other religious paintings a fresh beauty and new meaning.

Very little is known of Fra Angelico's origin. His Christian name was Guido and he was also known as Fra Giovanni of Fiesole. He was 20 when he received the habit of the Dominican order. The name Fra Angelico (meaning angelic) was given him because of his devout piety. It has been told that he never picked up a brush until he had prayed for guidance. He believed that God guided his brush. He knelt as he painted the Madonna and wept each time he painted the crucifixion. For over a hundred years the accepted image of an angel has been that of one of Fra Angelico's. Both in his gentle life and in his art he has given us a rich spiritual heritage.

God Chooses A People

We know him well as a philosopher, statesman, man of letters, kite-flyer, but barely as a fund raiser. Yet Ben Franklin personally planned, organized and solicited for many early Philadelphia projects. What his funds founded include America's first free library, a church, a hospital—and the University of Pennsylvania.

Franklin gave of himself and his wealth to help build American higher education.

Few of us can found a college, most of us can help keep one going.

Give to the college of your choice.

Mayor Ed Fuchs is in receipt of a letter from Mrs. Clara Thomas now living in Oklahoma, complimenting him on the efficient manner in which the dog catcher has rid the town of canines. She goes on to remark that it is a shame that he can't be empowered to catch some of the two-legged she dogs that are responsible for the breaking up of so many homes in Sikeston. Some times it does seem a shame that people who have no more decency than dogs, cannot be treated as such.

Mrs. Josephine Pond of Vanduser died Friday of lobar pneumonia at her home in Vanduser.

C. W. Hollister is leaving Sikeston for Shreveport, La., where he will spend the winter. He will be engaged in drainage work while there.

The Prayer

For Today

From the Upper Room

Dead to all feeling, they have abandoned themselves to vice, and stop at nothing to satisfy their foul desires. (Ephesians 4:19 NEB)

PRAYER: Help us, our Father, to be alert that we may avoid evil and love good. May we so commit ourselves that nothing will distract us from loving Thee. In Jesus' name. Amen.

It is high time our communication media should take stock and readjust its leanings if for no other reason than survival. Those responsible for policy have mistakenly pursued a path "slightly toward the left," using the palliative it's what the patrons want," when surveys show more than 85% of the listeners, readers, and viewers deplore the encroachment of socialism-communism in presentation of news and entertainment. Mayor Ed Fuchs is in receipt of a letter from Mrs. Clara Thomas now living in Oklahoma, complimenting him on the efficient manner in which the dog catcher has rid the town of canines. She goes on to remark that it is a shame that he can't be empowered to catch some of the two-legged she dogs that are responsible for the breaking up of so many homes in Sikeston. Some times it does seem a shame that people who have no more decency than dogs, cannot be treated as such.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) —The burglars came to Bernie O'Brien's radio and television store recently for the 12th time in 18 months. They didn't get anything.

When the burglaries got to be an almost monthly occurrence, O'Brien chained all the merchandise to the floor.

The Truth About Arthritis

Third of four articles

For some unknown reason, more women than men suffer from arthritis.

In its booklet on rheumatoid arthritis, The Arthritis Foundation says: "It is seen more often in women than men. It is most likely to strike people from 20 to 50 years, but can occur at any age. Children sometimes suffer from rheumatoid arthritis, either in a rather mild form or in a serious and fast-developing form sometimes called Still's disease."

Most often children develop the disease before the age of seven; but occasionally it occurs during the first year. This so-called juvenile arthritis may last into adult life. Although rheumatoid arthritis is fatal to few children, it is a potential danger to internal organs and eyes, and it may retard normal growth and development during adolescence.

As in adult cases, juvenile rheumatoid arthritis can, and should, be treated under a physician's supervision with antirheumatic drugs as well as physical therapy.

Arthritics are often victimized by "quacks" who sell worthless "cures" for high prices. Because of their pain, arthritics will try almost anything, often disregarding the doctor's advice. Says The Arthritis Foundation:

"Aspirin is so commonly used that some people feel it is nothing special to take for a serious disease. . . . Because the drug is so widely and easily available, because so many people take it for headache and the common cold, and because it can be bought without a prescription, it has been downgraded in people's minds. The fact is that aspirin is one of the most useful drugs ever devised, and that it has a very special and helpful effect in rheumatoid arthritis.

"In fact, aspirin as we know it today was actually developed specifically for the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis. In addition to relieving pain, it tends to reduce joint inflammation."

The Truth About Arthritis

Third of four articles

For some unknown reason, more women than men suffer from arthritis.

In its booklet on rheumatoid arthritis, The Arthritis Foundation says: "It is seen more often in women than men. It is most likely to strike people from 20 to 50 years, but can occur at any age. Children sometimes suffer from rheumatoid arthritis, either in a rather mild form or in a serious and fast-developing form sometimes called Still's disease."

Most often children develop the disease before the age of seven; but occasionally it occurs during the first year. This so-called juvenile arthritis may last into adult life. Although rheumatoid arthritis is fatal to few children, it is a potential danger to internal organs and eyes, and it may retard normal growth and development during adolescence.

As in adult cases, juvenile rheumatoid arthritis can, and should, be treated under a physician's supervision with antirheumatic drugs as well as physical therapy.

Arthritics are often victimized by "quacks" who sell worthless "cures" for high prices. Because of their pain, arthritics will try almost anything, often disregarding the doctor's advice. Says The Arthritis Foundation:

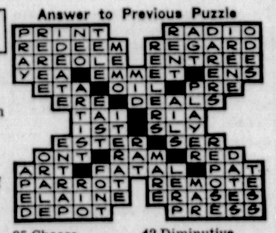

"Aspirin is so commonly used that some people feel it is nothing special to take for a serious disease. . . . Because the drug is so widely and easily available, because so many people take it for headache and the common cold, and because it can be bought without a prescription, it has been downgraded in people's minds. The fact is that aspirin is one of the most useful drugs ever devised, and that it has a very special and helpful effect in rheumatoid arthritis.

"In fact, aspirin as we know it today was actually developed specifically for the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis. In addition to relieving pain, it tends to reduce joint inflammation."

proposal that amounted to "a two-way street."

Johnson's remark about the stand of Russia's leaders on the Viet Nam war was a follow-up to a remark from him that only two nations want to continue the fighting, an obvious reference to North Viet Nam and Red China.

A questioner wanted to know whether that meant the Soviet Union had indicated it wanted the fighting stopped.

"I believe most of the nations of the world would like to see the fighting stopped," he said.

Johnson was pressed again about the Soviet Union.

"I am not a spokesman for the Soviet Union," he said, but added he was sure they would like to see the fighting stopped.

Asked to comment on former Vice President Richard M. Nixon's criticism of the "withdrawal terms" of the Manila conference communique, Johnson said he does not want to get into a foreign policy debate with "a campaigner like Mr. Nixon."

At Manila there was a pledge of a U.S. pull-out within six months after restoration of peace.

Johnson went on to criticize Nixon's knowledge of foreign affairs and said "now he's out talking about a conference he is not well informed about."

Johnson then reiterated that the United States has no plans to dominate or occupy Viet Nam once violence there ceases.

Johnson also dealt with these among other matters:

--Pre-election political plans: "We don't have any plans; when you don't have plans you don't cancel plans."

Johnson said he had been asked to visit 47 of the states by various candidates — and to visit the other three on a non-political speeches between now in any instance that he would go.

"We have no plans for any political speeches between now and the elections," he said again, adding that he hopes to spend "a relatively quiet weekend."

He added he has "not the slightest doubt" that electors will vote in the best interests of the country.

—The economy: "There has been a very healthy movement toward price stability in recent weeks," Johnson said.

Asked about prospects for a tax increase in view of the price stability he mentioned, Johnson said appropriations bills are currently being reviewed and that he would withhold as many of those appropriations as is possible without hurting the national interest.

--Asian conference: Johnson said he thinks Asians probably have the same interests as the United States and have the right and duty to take such initiatives as they desire. This was his reaction to a question about the proposal by President Ferdinand E. Marcos of the Philippines for an Asian conference.

"We have encouraged regional meetings," he said.

—The North Korean attack on an American patrol: Johnson called it "a totally unjustified murder" and said he hoped it did not indicate North Korea planned to violate the armistice in Korea.

—California governor race: Referring to Barry Goldwater's prediction that Republican Ronald Reagan will win by a landslide, Johnson said he could only express the hope Goldwater's predicting ability had not improved since 1964.

—Kennedy evidence: Johnson was asked why no announcement was made earlier that autopsy photos from the investigation of John F. Kennedy's assassination had been turned over to the government. He said they have been available to the Warren Commission and other official bodies but obviously they could not be turned over to private groups where it "would serve no good or official purpose."

The tissue is left weakened and therefore subject to rupture under strain.

In the President's case, this protrusion is about the size of a golf ball.

To repair it, the President's surgeons will make about a five-inch-long incision in the involved area. The operation should require less than an hour. No drain tubes are likely to be needed in this surgery.

Doctors will first repair a small break in the peritoneum, the membrane that lines the abdominal wall and covers the internal organs. Then, they'll sew the tear in the three-layered, quarter-inch thick, abdominal muscle just beneath the skin. Finally, they'll sew up the surgical incision.

Census Problems

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - A 75-year-old Iranian farmer had trouble explaining to census officials which of his 64 children belong to which of his 36 wives, the newspaper Ettelatt reports.

Ettelatt said officials discovered the family living in a 5,300-square-foot house near Ahwax.

The farmer told them he hoped to bring his total of wives up to 50 so he could remember the total offhand.

According to Moslem law, an Iranian can marry four permanent wives and as many contract wives as he wishes.

STORM

marooned Wednesday night in Kentucky.

About 250 travelers in all spent the night in the Fremont school.

The two - day storm brought snow amounts of four to eight inches and drifts to three to four feet or higher, in Kentucky, Michigan, Ohio, Tennessee and nearby states. Lesser amounts fell in other parts of the Midwest.

The storm appeared heading into southeastern Canada but snow squalls were indicated during the day in the northern third of the nation from the Rockies to New England. Severe cold and high winds curtailed clearing snowbound roads in western Ohio. Many schools remained closed.

Heavy rainstorms hit New England. Five inches of rain drenched some areas and Boston was doused with nearly two inches as was Millinocket, Maine.

In contrast to the wintry weather, mild weather continued in the Far West, with temperatures again reaching the 80s in the Southwest.

proposal that amounted to "a two-way street."

Johnson's remark about the stand of Russia's leaders on the Viet Nam war was a follow-up to a remark from him that only two nations want to continue the fighting, an obvious reference to North Viet Nam and Red China.

A questioner wanted to know whether that meant the Soviet Union had indicated it wanted the fighting stopped.

"I believe most of the nations of the world would like to see the fighting stopped," he said.

Johnson was pressed again about the Soviet Union.

"I am not a spokesman for the Soviet Union," he said, but added he was sure they would like to see the fighting stopped.

Asked to comment on former Vice President Richard M. Nixon's criticism of the "withdrawal terms" of the Manila conference communique, Johnson said he does not want to get into a foreign policy debate with "a campaigner like Mr. Nixon."

At Manila there was a pledge of a U.S. pull-out within six months after restoration of peace.

Johnson went on to criticize Nixon's knowledge of foreign affairs and said "now he's out talking about a conference he is not well informed about."

Johnson then reiterated that the United States has no plans to dominate or occupy Viet Nam once violence there ceases.

Johnson also dealt with these among other matters:

--Pre-election political plans: "We don't have any plans; when you don't have plans you don't cancel plans."

Johnson said he had been asked to visit 47 of the states by various candidates — and to visit the other three on a non-political speeches between now in any instance that he would go.

"We have no plans for any political speeches between now and the elections," he said again, adding that he hopes to spend "a relatively quiet weekend."

He added he has "not the slightest doubt" that electors will vote in the best interests of the country.

—The economy: "There has been a very healthy movement toward price stability in recent weeks," Johnson said.

Asked about prospects for a tax increase in view of the price stability he mentioned, Johnson said appropriations bills are currently being reviewed and that he would withhold as many of those appropriations as is possible without hurting the national interest.

--Asian conference: Johnson said he thinks Asians probably have the same interests as the United States and have the right and duty to take such initiatives as they desire. This was his reaction to a question about the proposal by President Ferdinand E. Marcos of the Philippines for an Asian conference.

"We have encouraged regional meetings," he said.

—The North Korean attack on an American patrol: Johnson called it "a totally unjustified murder" and said he hoped it did not indicate North Korea planned to violate the armistice in Korea.

—California governor race: Referring to Barry Goldwater's prediction that Republican Ronald Reagan will win by a landslide, Johnson said he could only express the hope Goldwater's predicting ability had not improved since 1964.

—Kennedy evidence: Johnson was asked why no announcement was made earlier that autopsy photos from the investigation of John F. Kennedy's assassination had been turned over to the government. He said they have been available to the Warren Commission and other official bodies but obviously they could not be turned over to private groups where it "would serve no good or official purpose."

trouble.

The tissue is left weakened and therefore subject to rupture under strain.

In the President's case, this protrusion is about the size of a golf ball.

To repair it, the President's surgeons will make about a five-inch-long incision in the involved area. The operation should require less than an hour. No drain tubes are likely to be needed in this surgery.

Doctors will first repair a small break in the peritoneum, the membrane that lines the abdominal wall and covers the internal organs. Then, they'll sew the tear in the three-layered, quarter-inch thick, abdominal muscle just beneath the skin. Finally, they'll sew up the surgical incision.

Census Problems

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - A 75-year-old Iranian farmer had trouble explaining to census officials which of his 64 children belong to which of his 36 wives, the newspaper Ettelatt reports.

Ettelatt said officials discovered the family living in a 5,300-square-foot house near Ahwax.

The farmer told them he hoped to bring his total of wives up to 50 so he could remember the total offhand.

According to Moslem law, an Iranian can marry four permanent wives and as many contract wives as he wishes.

Cuban Population Rises

MIAMI, Fla. (AP — Cuba's population has increased by 1,200,000 since Fidel Castro took over in 1959, Havana radio says.

Some 500,000 Cubans have gone into exile during the period but Havana radio, monitored in Miami, reported Cuba has 7,800,000 inhabitants, according to a new census, as against 6,600,000 in 1959.

Surprise Handout

ROCK HILL, S.C. (AP)—Marshall Parker, one of South Carolina's two Republican candidates for the U.S. Senate, stepped from his car here recently to hand a policeman at the curb a campaign pamphlet.

Parker paid a $15 fine.

STORM

marooned Wednesday night in Kentucky.

About 250 travelers in all spent the night in the Fremont school.

The two - day storm brought snow amounts of four to eight inches and drifts to three to four feet or higher, in Kentucky, Michigan, Ohio, Tennessee and nearby states. Lesser amounts fell in other parts of the Midwest.

The storm appeared heading into southeastern Canada but snow squalls were indicated during the day in the northern third of the nation from the Rockies to New England. Severe cold and high winds curtailed clearing snowbound roads in western Ohio. Many schools remained closed.

Heavy rainstorms hit New England. Five inches of rain drenched some areas and Boston was doused with nearly two inches as was Millinocket, Maine.
